CHICAGO, July 13.—With plans practically completed for the formation of a new party embracing all the minority, liberal and radical groups, except the Socialists, the Labor Party and Committee of 48 went into joint session this afternoon.

Besides the two principal groups,
the meeting was joined by the Single Tax party, World War Veterans, Non-Partisan League and several other organizations.

The clamor of a brass band working at high pressure, the din of feet, voices, and creaking chairs, and the boom of flash lights marked the assembling of the fusion convention. They filled the hall to its furthest corners, and the double set of state standards waved up and down trying to find a resting place.

James Duncan, Seattle Laborite, held the gavel, but Parley P.
Christensen, the 48-ers chairman, was given a rising demonstration as he came on the platform, and the band played "Hail, Hail, the Gang's

AMERICAN TELLS OF RED OUTRAGES AFTER FALL OF NIKOLAIEVSK LAST MARCH

Bolsheviks Killed Many Women and Children, Fired Jails and Executed Prisoners Without Any Trial.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, July 13.—The full story of what happened at Nikolaievsk, Siberia, under the Bolshevik regime, reached Washington today for the first time. It was told to the American Consul at Vladivostok by a Mr. Dyer, who, with his wife and two other American citizens, had been held at Nikolaievsk by the red forces.

According to Dyer's statement, the Bolsheviks under Trapitsin, attacked the Japanese guard at Nikolaievsk on Jan. 21. The fortress surrendered about the middle of February, and the city about the end of that month. The Japanese guard still held out, and on March 10 they were ordered by Trapitsin to surrender by noon on March 12.

The Japanese, Dyer said, being afraid to trust the promises of the Russians, surrounded the Russian staff at 2 o'clock on the morning of March 11, fired the building and attacked and killed many Russians, and tried to escape. They were driven in their barracks, however, and on March 18, 134 survivors surrendered.

Executed Without Trial.
Dyer stated that before the fighting began on March 11, the jails had been filled by Trapitsin with persons accused of being counter-revolutionists, Bourgeois and spies, all these were marched to the Amur River and killed on the night of the 13th.
Executions without trial continued

During the fighting, which continued from the 11th to the 15th, noncombatants, women and children were killed, except 12 Japanese women, who were hidden by their Chinese husbands.

Meanwhile other foreigners in the city were protected by a Chinese gunboat. One British subject, John Freedman, was executed as a counter revolutionist. Dyer said he believed he might have met the same fate had it not been for the protection of the Chinese, due to which no Americans were killed.

On May 22, Dyer said, he overheard a conversation between Trapitsin and Nina, the Chinese Consul, and Capt. Mow of the Chinese gun-boat, in which Trapitsin demanded the co-operation of the Chinese against the Japanese, when they were approaching the town. This was refused. Capt. Mow stating that he would maintain neutrality towards the Japanese.

Set Fire to the Jails.
After the Chinese evacuation of Nikolaievsk on May 24 Trapitsin troops began new attacks and that night set fire to the jails and put to death all of the 134 Japanese prisoners, stating that the jails had been freed by the Japanese themselves.

The destruction of the city by fire and explosions continued over the 26th, until only about 100 out of the 4000 buildings remained. Trapitsin then fled up the Amgun River with his band, having lost about 500 men.
All other Russians had been killed.

After the arrival of the Japanese relief expedition, the four American, seven British, seven French and 425 Russian refugees were sent to Vladvostok on a Japanese transport.

FIVE MEN FINED
$1425 FOR DRY
LAW VIOLATIONS

Woman Also Pleads Guilty to Offense, but Sentence Is Deferred, Pending Investigation of Explanation.

Five men today were fined a total of $1425 on their pleas of guilty in the Federal Court to violation of the prohibition law. A woman also pleaded guilty, but sentence in her case was deferred pending investigation of her explanation.

Charles Koehn, formerly proprietor of a saloon at 501 South Second street, was fined $500 for having sold a half pint of whisky to a revenue agent March 21. He requested clemency on the ground that he had quit the saloon business and had obtained employment with an express company. Revenue agents testified that Koehn purchased four barrels of whisky Dec. 12, 1919, and that at the time of his arrest he had disposed of all but one barrel.

Theodore Halfen, formerly bartender in a saloon at Garrison avenue and Olive street, was fined $300 for selling whisky to prohibition enforcement officers. He was ordered committed to jail pending payment of the fine.

William Kastner, a waiter at Cl-card's cafe, Euclid avenue and Delmar boulevard, was fined $100 for having served highballs to two prohibition enforcement officers, Sept. 11 last.

Forest Lockman, bartender at the National Cafe, 117 North Sixth street, was fined $500 for selling a half pint of whisky to prohibition enforcement officers two months ago.

George Kuebler, 3833 Pennin-sylvania avenue, was fined $25 for manufacturing for his own use 30 gal-ons of wine in August, 1919, when wartime prohibition was in effect.

After pleading guilty to having sold a half pint of whisky to a prohibition enforcement officer, Mrs.
Mary Demurech, whose husband owns a cafe at 35 South Twentieth street, told Judge Faris that the officer posed as a friend of her husband and induced her to sell him the whisky from her own private stock by telling her that his wife was ill.

Willard Nance, the agent who made the arrest, stated that Mrs. Demu-rech made no such excuse to him when she was arrested.

In postponing the case to hear from the agent who purchased the whisky, Judge Faris said that he would show no sympathy for prohibition violators who claim to have sentimental reasons for selling liquor.

I. V. L. AGAIN ACTIVE WITH A NEW NAME
AND NEW P. O. BOX

Organization Exists to Maintain Political Boycott Against Roman Catholics
Who Run for Office.

DEPUTY SHERIFF
ONLY KNOWN MEMBER

Melvin C. Lefmann Says He Is Only an "Outside Man" —Weinbrenner Refuses to Discuss Matter.

The Independent Voters' League, which exists for the purpose of maintaining a political boycott against members of the Roman Catholic Church who run for office, has resumed activities with a new postoffice box as its headquarters and a new and apparently fictitious name to which communications are to be addressed.

As usual it is conducting its operations with great secrecy. Candidates for office have received circulars on letterheads bearing the caption "Independent Voters" and have been asked to address "F. S. Henry, Lock Box 952," if they desire to join "the organization."

In 1915 the I. V. L. used lock box 798 and in 1917 lock box 656.
Thus far the name of only one person connected with the present activities of the I. V. L. has been learned. This is Melvin C. Lefmann of 4508 North Broadway, a Deputy Sheriff.

Candidate Approached.

Lefmann is known to have approached one candidate. A few days after Lefmann's visit the candidate received one of the circulars containing a stamped envelope addressed to "Henry" at the lock box headquarters. The candidate was asked to join the organization and to make a contribution to its treasury.

Another candidate is said to have made a contribution of $300 in return for which he was to be indorsed in the usual "ticket" to be issued by the I. V. L. before the primary. In these tickets it has been the custom to indicate in bold-faced type which candidates are classed by this secret organization as "Romanist" or "pro-Romanist."

The Legislature, in 1917, passed a law against the issuing of anonymous political publications for the alleged guidance of voters. This law was imposed directly on the I. V. L., which was first exposed by the Post-Dispatch in 1915.

Name Not in Directory.
The name "F. S. Henry" used in the I. V. L. circulars received by candidates does not appear in the City Directory.

Deputy Sheriff Lefmann, when questioned by a Post-Dispatch report today, admitted that he belonged to the "Independent Voters."
"I am only an outside man and not a member of the executive board," he said. "I can't tell you anything about this organization unless you become a member. It is a lodge. If you belonged to a lodge and an outsider came around asking you questions about it, you'd tell him to go to hell, wouldn't you? You just write to F. S. Henry, Lock Box 952, if you want to join. If they tell you you are all right, you'll go before the executive board."

When asked what were the purposes of the organization, Deputy Sheriff Lefmann said:
"I can't tell you anything. Write to that lock box."

He refused to explain what he meant by describing himself as an "outside man."

"Will the league get out a 'ticket'?" he was asked.

"Yes, we will approve certain candidates," he replied.

"Well, this is an organization for the betterment of politics."

"There may be some Catholics who are all right. This is not altogether a religious proposition. If you want to know any more you must write
to that lock box."

Lefmann would not discuss the question of "F. S. Henry" or tell where he lived or had his office.

Sheriff Weinbrenner Silent.
Sheriff Weinbrenner, when asked for a statement as to Deputy Sheriff Lefmann's activities in the I. V. L., said: "Why don't you ask Lef-mann?" To questions as to whether he had contributed to the I. V. L. and whether he approved of Lef-mann's connection with it, Weinbrenner replied: "I won't say a word."

It will be recalled that about three years ago Sheriff Weinbrenner appointed as one of his deputies Green P. Harding, who had been shown by the Post-Dispatch to have been prominent in the affairs of the I. V. L.
Because of Harding's activity in the I. V. L. the Judges of the Circuit Court refused to confirm his appointment.

Shocker Strikes Out 14 Batters in First Contest, Winning, 6-4.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Urban Shocker, the Browns' right-hand pitcher, set the 1920 major league record for strikeouts in the first game of the double-header with the "Yankees" here today, when he retired 14 New York batters on strikes.

The previous high mark for the campaign was 11, established by Max Baer of Brooklyn, against Boston, June 28. Shocker won his game, 6 to 4. During the contest, Shocker fanned "Babe" Ruth, the home-run champion of the major leagues, three successive times. The fourth time Ruth went up he singled.

In the second game, Ruth was struck out on his first two trips to the plate, in the first and fourth
pitcher for St. Louis.

The official attendance of 38,823 is a new record.

Detailed accounts of the games will

BELFAST, July 13.—Of the 130 petty jurors summoned for duty in the Assizes Court here yesterday, only 19 men were present when court opened. More than 80 of the 99 appeals cases before the tribunal were withdrawn, it was an-

A remarkable feature of the incident was that yesterday a Sinn Fein reached decisions on almost all the appeals listed for hearing before the Assizes Court, and barristers and solicitors were in attendance.

JACKSON, Miss., July 13.—The Democratic State Executive Committee yesterday adopted a resolution opposing the proposed migration of 8000 Mennonite farmers from Canada to Southern Mississippi.

The resolution declares the Mennonites to be "undesirable citizens" and objects to their settling in Mississippi on the following grounds:
"First, the Mennonites refuse to attend the public schools; second, they speak and write only the German language, which is equivalent to thinking in German; third, they are considered wholly of conscientious objectors who refused to fight for the Farmer Who Saw Couple Says They Were "Having

Found in Automobile.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WESTERVILLE, N. Y., July 13.—Mrs.
Arthur de Cordova, wife of a New York banker, was slain during an automobile ride last evening on a motor road in the road district of Stonington, Conn. Her chauffeur, Bernard Geissler, was found unsprawled across a barbed fence not far from Mrs. de Cordova's body, with a bullet hole in his temple.

He was rushed to the Lawrence Hospital in New London where he died today.

Mrs. de Cordova, who was registered with her husband and their son, 20 years old, and a daughter, about 17, at the Hotel Griswold, Eastern Point, near New London, had been on a joy ride with the chauffeur for about three hours before the tragedy was discovered. It was reported last night.

James Main, a farmer, said that he saw them in the car and that they seemed to be having a hilarious time.

About half an hour later a North Stonington man came upon the body of Mrs. de Cordova in the middle of the road. Across the barbed wire fence was the chauffeur, still breathing, but evidently fatally wounded. Between the two was an army pistol.

In Mrs. de Cordova's purse was $50 in money and her jewels had not been touched.

In the automobile was found a bottle of whisky, partly consumed, and many cigarette stubs.

Coroner Fails to Establish Motive for Killing.

NEW LONDON, Conn., July 13.—
Coroner Franklin H. Brown of New London County made his preliminary inquiry this afternoon and received the report on the autopsy. He said he failed to find anything to establish a motive for the murder.

He had found that the car had been stopped on the left-hand side of the road. Mrs. de Cordova's body lay close by the car with the feet on the road. The chauffeur was found in a pocket of Geissler's clothing was found an envelope containing a lock of hair which was of the same shade as that of Mrs. de Cordova.

The envelope bore the inscription,
"In case of accident or death, place this under my pillow."

Chauffeur Believed to Have Killed Woman and Self.

NEW YORK, July 13.—Arthur de Cordova, New York broker, whose wife was killed yesterday, presumably by his chauffeur, near New Lon-

here July 1 for Eastern points, driving a Buick. The chauffeur, Bernard Geissler, after seeing his wife settled for the summer, de Cordova returned yesterday.

At the de Cordova home here news of the shooting was at first regarded as incredible. Geissler, employed for five years by the de Cordovas, was said never to have shown any signs of insanity.

Mrs. Geissler, when informed of the shooting, was prostrated.

O'Connor E. de Cordova, cousin of Arthur de Cordova, is vice president of the New York Consolidated Exchange and a member of the board of governors.

Members of the de Cordova family said they could assign no motive for the shooting.

Mrs. Geissler departed today for New Haven.

PARIS, July 13.—President Des-

the newspapers have been silent dur-main topics of Parisian conversation and comment in the press. There is a divergence of opinion, some papers

ALLIED-GERMAN DEADLOCK ON COAL; FOCH CALLED IN Field Marshall Wilson Also Summoned at Spa to Discuss Possible Enforcement Measures.

ALLIES EXTEND AGREEMENT TIME

Ultimatum Calling for Reply at 3 Today on Demand for 2,000,000 Tons a Month Now Effective Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press. SPA, July 12.—A deadlock has been reached by the allies and the Germans on the coal question, and Field Marshall Wilson, the allied military chiefs, have again been summoned to discuss possible enforcement measures.

The Allied Prime Ministers decided not to insist upon the Germans replying to the allied ultimatum regarding coal deliveries at 3 p. m. today. The Germans will be permitted to defer their reply until tomorrow.

The experts on both sides are spending the day re-examining the situation. The allies originally demanded a monthly delivery of 2,500,000 tons of coal by the Germans. The Germans offered 1,100,000 tons and the allied demand was reduced to 2,000,000 tons. The ultimatum of yesterday informed the Germans that they must agree by 3 o'clock this afternoon to this monthly delivery or the allies would take measures to enforce the terms of the treaty of Versailles.

While the experts are at work the Prime Ministers are indulging in relaxation from their labors. Premier Lloyd George, for his part, went on a motor trip.

German Minister's Position. Dr. Walter Simons, the German Foreign Minister, informed the Allies today that the Germans, if ordered to supply 2,000,000 tons of coal monthly, would, of course, do their best. He declared, however, he did not see how the Germans could promise something they could not do.

Dr. Simons said, in effect, that if the allies wanted the voluntary cooperation of the Germans it would have to be by mutual agreement.

Agreement could be reached, he added, then the Reparations Commission should be permitted to decide what the allies intended to do under the treaty and fix any penalties the allies thought proper.

The allies, Dr. Simons continued, could, of course, occupy the coal regions or send their own commission into Germany and the Germans would not be able to resist.

During the day Chancellor Fehrenbach, the head of the German delegation, directed the attention of the secretary-general of the conference to incidents during the war in which the Germans declared they had been victims of aggression by the Allies. The Chancellor asked for a thorough investigation of the German allegations.

Official Communiqué. The official communiqué on yesterday's proceedings read: "The heads of the allied delegations met Chancellor Fehrenbach and Dr. Simons this afternoon and conferred for an hour on the Coal and Reparations Commission."

"The text of the coal protocol drafted yesterday after the experts' discussion was communicated to the German delegates. Proposals regarding the monthly tonnage of coal deliveries were exchanged without result, and it was declared that in these circumstances the figures fixed by the Reparations Commission were adhered to. The Germans announced that they would consider the question and give their reply at a later meeting."

The allies spontaneously announced that, in view of the information given concerning the underground mining of coal, they were prepared to study the question of improvement in their food position and asked the German delegation to submit practical suggestions to that end."

Tense Point Reached. The negotiations appear to have reached another tense point, but the spirit of conciliation adopted by both sides has prevented a break. The allies found it was necessary to issue the ultimatum for carrying out the treaty, which would entitle them to a greater amount of coal than now is demanded.

The question of coal was the subject of controversy during a three-hour session of Premier Millerand, Premier Lloyd George, Count Sforza, the Italian Foreign Minister, Viscount Chinda, Japanese Minister to Great Britain, Premier Belorok of Belgium, Konstantin Fehrenbach, German Chancellor, and Dr. Walter Simons, the German Foreign Minister.

The allies began by insisting upon a monthly delivery of 2,500,000 tons. The Germans offered 1,100,000 tons and the allies reduced their demand to 2,000,000.

Dr. Simons represented that coal, being the very foundation of the industrial life of Germany, every ton that Germany sent to the allies meant that much less production. He said:

"My contention is in European interests, as much as in the interest of Germany, because our payments to you are conditioned upon our industrial production. You want our money. We want you to have it, but

Map Explaining the Crisis That Besets Poland Today

THE Peace Council at Versailles, in re-establishing the independent State of Poland, set forth its metes and bounds as indicated by the heavier black dotted lines. The vaulting ambitions of the Poles, however, were not satisfied with these and they embarked on the new enterprise of conquering from Russia, under the guise of fighting the Bolshevik movement, the whole of the old Polish domain before the partition of 1772 by Prussia, Austria and Russia.

This old frontier, which embraced an area more than three times that of the domain set apart by the Versailles conference is indicated by the light link line.

how can we pay large sums if you take away large quantities of coal?" The German Foreign Minister offered to increase the deliveries of coal from 1,100,000 tons to 1,400,000 within six months, and to 1,700,000 tons within a year. This could only be done, he said, if the allies made better food conditions possible for the miners and contributed raw materials to build houses for more miners.

PARDON IS SOUGHT FOR MEN CONVICTED IN MAGARIAN CASE Charles Burke and Lex Droit, sentenced for kidnaping boy, Denise Freedom.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 13.—Mrs. Gertrude Lawler and Mrs. Resnik pleaded with the Board of Pardons and Pardoners today for a pardon or commutation of sentence for Charles Burke, or Burkholz, and Lex Droit, convicted at Belleville in January, 1918, of kidnaping Alphonse Magarian, 2-year-old son of A. D. Magarian of East St. Louis, who was murdered and beheaded. They are serving terms of 16 years.

Mrs. Resnik appeared for Burke and Mrs. Lawler for Droit. Droit and Burke were first tried in the United States District Court at Danville on the charge of writing a blackmailing letter to Magarian, demanding ransom for the return of his son. They were acquitted.

Then they were tried at Belleville for the murder of the boy and were acquitted. On the third trial on the charge of kidnaping they were convicted.

HARDING TO DEVOTE TODAY TO SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE Congressman and Mrs. Longworth, Guests of Ohio Senator and Wife.

By the Associated Press. MARION, O., July 13.—Senator Harding went into seclusion today in order to work on his speech accepting the Republican presidential nomination. In order that he might give his entire attention to it, no conferences were scheduled and even the newspaper correspondents who are "covering" the Harding headquarters were to see him only once in the afternoon and morning and afternoon conferences. He plans to complete the speech this week.

Congressman and Mrs. Longworth of Cincinnati, close personal friends of Senator and Mrs. Harding, arrived last night to be their house guests for a few days.

Coal Miners Leaving Kansas. PITTSBURG, Kan., July 13.—A special train, arranged for by a Wyoming coal mining company, will leave Pittsburg tonight, taking approximately 50 miners and the families of several of them to Wyoming, where they will be employed. Black work in the Kansas fields, due largely to the coal shortage, is responsible for the migration of the miners.

Bishop of Wichita Dies of Paralysis. By the Associated Press. WICHITA, Kan., July 13.—Rev. John J. Hennessey, Bishop of the Wichita Catholic diocese, died at his residence there this morning. He was born in County Cork, Ireland, in 1847. A stroke of paralysis during the night caused his death.

The arrows indicate the points of the pincer movement of the Bolshevik army which is threatening the Polish army with destruction. The Allies have ordered Poles to make peace with the Bolshevik Government on the basis of the Versailles frontier, but, despite their precarious situation, they are reluctant to abandon the old Polish frontier. The Bolshevik Government has not indicated what it would do in the event of an armistice by the Poles for an armistice, but there are rumors at Spa that it prefers to make a peace of victory in Warsaw, thus trimming effectively the Polish eagle's wings. The Allies have promised to give the Poles "effective aid," if their application for an armistice should be rejected.

The American Legion in this city have been abandoned, owing to the opposition of some Americans. It is said the organization may be perfected after the present crisis has passed.

By the Associated Press. WARSAW, July 10.—News from the battle front is meager, but the American relief workers are reported to have evacuated Minsk, Kovell and other towns toward which the Bolsheviks are approaching in their 1200-meter (745 miles) westward sweep. Many telegraph wires are down and the railroads have been cut at various points. It is reported here that Minsk is on fire.

The Catholic archbishop Lura has appealed to members of the church to join the colors. A special mass has been called for Sunday at which prayers will be offered for Poland's safety. The Russian residents of Warsaw have held a mass meeting and begun organization of infantry and cavalry detachments.

Soviet Has Not Replied to Allies; Poles Need Munitions. By the Associated Press. SPA, July 13.—The Russian Soviet Government had not replied up to this afternoon to the request of the allies that an armistice be arranged between the Russian and Polish forces. The message was sent by wireless to the Soviet authorities through the British Government, because of the relations already existing between Premier Lloyd George and Lenin, the Bolshevik Minister of Trade and Commerce.

Ladislav Grabski, the Polish Premier, is due to arrive in Warsaw today from Spa.

Gen. Bluski, the head of the Polish state, has taken no official account toward an armistice, according to the Polish delegation here, the matter being left in the hands of the allies.

The Polish military authorities have informed the allies that they can put into the field an army of 1,000,000 men, but that they need 400,000 rifles, 5000 machine guns, 10,000 field guns and armored cars and tanks together with a great variety of munitions.

Bonar Law Confirms Report Soviet Is Asked for Armistice. By the Associated Press. LONDON, July 13.—Further official confirmation was given yesterday that the allies had made proposals to the Russian Soviet Government for an immediate armistice on equitable terms between Poland and Russia. This confirmation was given in the House of Commons by Andrew Bonar Law, Government spokesman.

Bonar Law declared that the Soviet Government had accepted Great Britain's terms for a resumption of trade between Great Britain and Russia.

When asked to state the terms of the trade agreement, Bonar Law declined, except to say that the message to Moscow, dealing with the Polish armistice dealt also with the question of trade negotiations.

The question was raised whether the allies had threatened to defend Poland if the Soviet Government declined an armistice. Bonar Law would not give the details regarding

COX AND ROOSEVELT TO CONCEDE NO STATES

Will Carry Campaign Into Every Quarter of Country, Nominees Declare.

By the Associated Press. COLUMBUS, O., July 13.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for Vice President, announced yesterday, following a conference with Gov. Cox, the presidential candidate, at the Governor's home here, that both he and the Governor had decided they would consider no state as being hopeless and that they would carry the fight into every state in the Union during the coming campaign.

This was the first definite announcement to come from the heads of the ticket since their nomination. "Both the Governor and myself are not going to consider any state hopeless. We intend to go into every one," Mr. Roosevelt said.

Roosevelt reiterated Gov. Cox's recent intimation that the campaign will be carried into the West at an early date. He said he expected to leave the stump immediately after his official notification. He said he hoped the notification ceremonies would be at his home at Hyde Park, New York.

He said he expected to resign as Assistant Secretary of the Navy about August 1 or immediately after the return of Secretary Daniels from Alaska. He will go to Eastport, Me., where his family now is, to prepare his speech of acceptance. The Vice Presidential nominee stated that he considered the League of Nations one of the dominant campaign issues. He said he expected to make his campaign chiefly on the League of Nations issue.

Roosevelt said he hoped to be in Dayton on July 29 at the Democratic National Committee meeting and that he hoped to see the President soon. He said the time of his conference with the President would depend upon the desire of the chief executive.

Gov. Cox did not discuss the conference with his running mate except to say they had talked of campaign plans and that they expected to continue the conference tonight until Roosevelt leaves for the East at 9:30.

Cox Back at Capitol. It was Gov. Cox's first day at the executive office since his nomination. He arrived from Dayton this morning, and went directly to the Capitol. At an informal reception, the Governor spoke from the steps of the Statehouse to several thousand persons, asserting he had "never broken confidence with the people of the commonwealth, and that he was the 'deserted conviction' that the guarantee of progressive government will be adopted by the people of the nation in the election of Mr. Roosevelt and myself."

The Governor this afternoon received a telegram from San Francisco from Wilbur Marsh, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee, stating that E. H. Moore of Youngstown, O., Gov. Cox's predecessor as manager, was seriously ill in a hospital there from nervous reaction. The message stated that he was under a nurse's care and that no one was permitted to visit him. It added, however, there was no occasion for alarm. The Governor immediately sent a message of sympathy, expressing the hope that his manager would be out soon.

NO BARNSTORMING IN 1920 G. O. P. Campaign, Hays Says

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 13.—Will H. Hays, Republican national chairman and director in chief of the Harding-Coolidge campaign, returned today after a week spent in Chicago and Marion County and once more assumed charge of Republican headquarters here.

Mr. Hays said there had been no change in the Republican policy of making the present one a "home campaign." There will be no barnstorming, he said.

BOYS WRECK AUTO AND FLEE Machine Afterward Found to Have Been Stolen.

An automobile belonging to John H. Neudecker, 1113 South Twelfth street, was wrecked when it ran against a building at 214 South Second street at 3 p. m. yesterday.

Three boys, about 15 years old, who were in the car, jumped out, apparently unhurt, and fled. Neudecker informed the police that his automobile had been stolen from in front of his home a few minutes before the collision.

8,000,000 BOTTLES OF CHAMPAGNE TO BE AUCTIONED IN PARIS

Wine Part of Baron de Mumm's Property Seized When War Began.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, July 13.—Eight million bottles of champagne will be among the items on the lists of commodities to be placed on sale July 23, when the sequestered property of Baron de Mumm will be auctioned off. This property was seized in 1915 subsequent to the Baron's renunciation of German citizenship when the war began.

The number of bottles in the Baron's cellars in the vicinity of Rheims, where the sale will take place, was greatly diminished during the war. When Gen. Ludendorff was making his furious drives toward Rheims and Epernay, the wine cellars were used as shelters for the troops, and the men were given the best wine with their meals.

In addition to the bottled wines there are 500,000 liters of wine in casks, these being stored in warehouses, mansions and cottages, as well as secret hiding places beneath vineyards in the champagne country.

SON, CHIDED BY FATHER FOR NOT WORKING, SHOOTS SELF Alfred Alewel Taken to Hospital With Wound Near Heart, Probably Will Recover.

Alfred Alewel, 21 years old, shot himself above the heart at his home, 4338 Labadie avenue, about noon today after his father, Henry J. Alewel, had chided him for not working regularly. At the city hospital it was said he probably would recover.

Alel had been working at intervals at the Wagner Electric Co. His father told policemen the young man left home Saturday and did not return home until this morning.

When the father went home at noon and found that the son had not come to work, he said, he scolded him and said to him: "I have to work every day and I don't see why you shouldn't."

Alel said his son went out and was not seen to return, but about 15 minutes later a shot was heard and he was found in his bedroom wounded. The revolver was owned by Alel's father, who said it was not loaded when he put it away. He said he supposed his son went out and bought cartridges after being chided for not going to work.

At the city hospital young Alel said: "I shot myself, but I'm sorry I did it."

'FRIEND' SELLS BORROWED AUTO Owner Finds Car in Garage and Is Told Payment Was Made.

Jeane Roe, 117 North Cardinal avenue, loaned his automobile yesterday to a "friend" who said he had to go to Union Station.

When the "friend" and machine failed to return Roe started an investigation which revealed that the "friend," instead of driving to the station, had visited an automobile concern on North Jefferson avenue, where he had sold Roe's car for a cash consideration and an understanding that other payments were to be made later.

TO EXTRACT TEETH FREE Free extraction of teeth under conductive anesthesia will be given to from 75 to 100 patients daily, at the Planters Hotel, room 724, tomorrow, Thursday and Friday, where graduate dentists are taking a course under the auspices of the St. Louis Study Club Post-Graduate School of Dentistry.

The hours are from 9 a. m. until 1 p. m., and patients needing extraction of teeth may apply at the hotel during those hours.

SUFFRAGE VALIDITY TEST IS DISMISSED

District of Columbia Court Holds It Cannot Pass Upon the Amendment.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, July 13.—Justice Bailey in the District Supreme Court today dismissed proceedings brought by Charles Fairchild of New York, president of the American Constitutional League, to prevent the proclamation of the ratification of the suffrage amendment and to test the validity of the equal suffrage law.

The court held that it was without authority to inquire into the action of the State Legislatures in ratifying the suffrage amendment, and that it had no authority to pass upon the validity of such an amendment. Fairchild noted an appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States.

Governor of Florida Not to Call Session on Suffrage. By the Associated Press. TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 13.—Gov. Catts has refused to call a special session of the Florida Legislature to take action on the Federal woman suffrage amendment. Local suffrage leaders announced last night. They said the Governor contended that such action would be useless.

The suffragists announced receipt of a telegram from the Governor which they said read as follows: "I tried to do this thing through the last session. The same members constitute the Legislature now and an extra session would be useless."

Suffrage Session in Tennessee Set for Aug. 9. By the Associated Press. NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 13.—Refusal of Gov. Clements of Vermont to call a special session of the Legislature to take action on the suffrage amendment is used by supporters of the proposal to redouble their efforts to obtain favorable action by the Tennessee General Assembly.

Gov. Roberts has announced he would convene the Legislature on Aug. 9.

The House is generally considered to be for ratification by a safe margin, while the Senate is regarded as close. The late suffrage law, enacted in 1913, passed the House by a majority of 20, and the Senate by a one-vote margin.

Several members of the Senate have since resigned.

HABEAS CORPUS WRIT ISSUED FOR OPLE, MILLER AND CLYNE Supreme Court Directs Sheriff Not to Deliver Men Wanted in Granite City.

The Missouri Supreme Court today issued a writ of habeas corpus upon application of Charles A. Houts, attorney, in behalf of Joseph Ople, Earl Miller and Leo Clyne, held in St. Louis in connection with the shooting and killing of Clarence W. Turner in Granite City on May 20 last. The writ is made returnable in seven days.

It is directed against Sheriff Weinbrener to prevent his delivery of the prisoners on a requisition from the Governor of Illinois honored by the Governor of Missouri. Houts declared that the feeling against the men in Granite City is so bitter that they could not obtain a fair trial there.

Houts stated that he would apply for the release of his clients on bond.

MINE COMMISSION RULES OUT EFFORT TO SHOW MONOPOLY

Chairman Declares Body Can Consider Only Matters Bearing Directly on Demands of Mine Workers.

OPERATORS INSIST ON THE OPEN SHOP

Anthracite Owners Reiterate Principles of Collective Bargaining Laid Down by Roosevelt Commission.

By the Associated Press.
SCRANTON, Pa., July 13.—Dr. W. O. Thompson, chairman of the Anthracite Mine Commission, at today's session ruled that the commission is without jurisdiction to admit anything to the record unless it has a direct bearing upon the 18 demands presented by the United Mine Workers. This decision confines the work of the commission to an adjudication of the wages, hours of employment and other matters dealing directly with the working conditions of the mine workers.

Today's action upheld the contention of the mine operators and prevented the representatives of the workers from presenting seven exhibits which they alleged would tend to prove charges of monopolistic control of the anthracite industry and profiteering by operators during the last four years. The miners' representatives had offered these charges through their statistician and they had been extensively argued at recent sessions of the commission. The body was appointed by President Wilson to reconcile differences between mine operators and their employees who have been for some months trying to reach an agreement on points in dispute.

Owners Present Reply.
Following the announcement of the commission's decision the operators, through S. D. Warriner of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co., commenced the presentation of their side of the controversy. This answer included adherence to the fundamental principles of collective bargaining as laid down by President Roosevelt's anthracite strike commission of 1902, and re-affirmation of every man's right to work, without reference to membership or nonmembership in a labor organization.

Unalterable opposition to the principle of the closed shop and its proposed accompaniment, the check-off, was also placed in the record, and figures were presented to show that, under that system, the annual earnings of anthracite mine workers have more than kept pace with the increase in the cost of living.

Each demand was analyzed in the reply, and the position of the operators stated, but as no mine workers had previously notified the commission that four of the 18 demands were of major importance, stress was laid on the answers of these four.

To the demand that "the present wages of the anthracite mine workers be increased to correspond to the increases granted the bituminous mine workers by the presidential coal commission," the operators set forth that the bituminous and anthracite industries are not comparable, "since anthracite mining also involves a manufacturing process of cleaning and sizing coal in breakers with the result that only about one-third of the anthracite employees are engaged in cutting and loading coal, against about two-thirds in the bituminous industry."

Anthracite Work Steady.
"Since the anthracite industry is on virtually a full time basis, employment is steady, compared with about 200 days' work a year in the bituminous mines," the statement says. "Anthracite workers, under present wage scales, are earning more per annum than the bituminous workers with the increase granted by the President's commission."

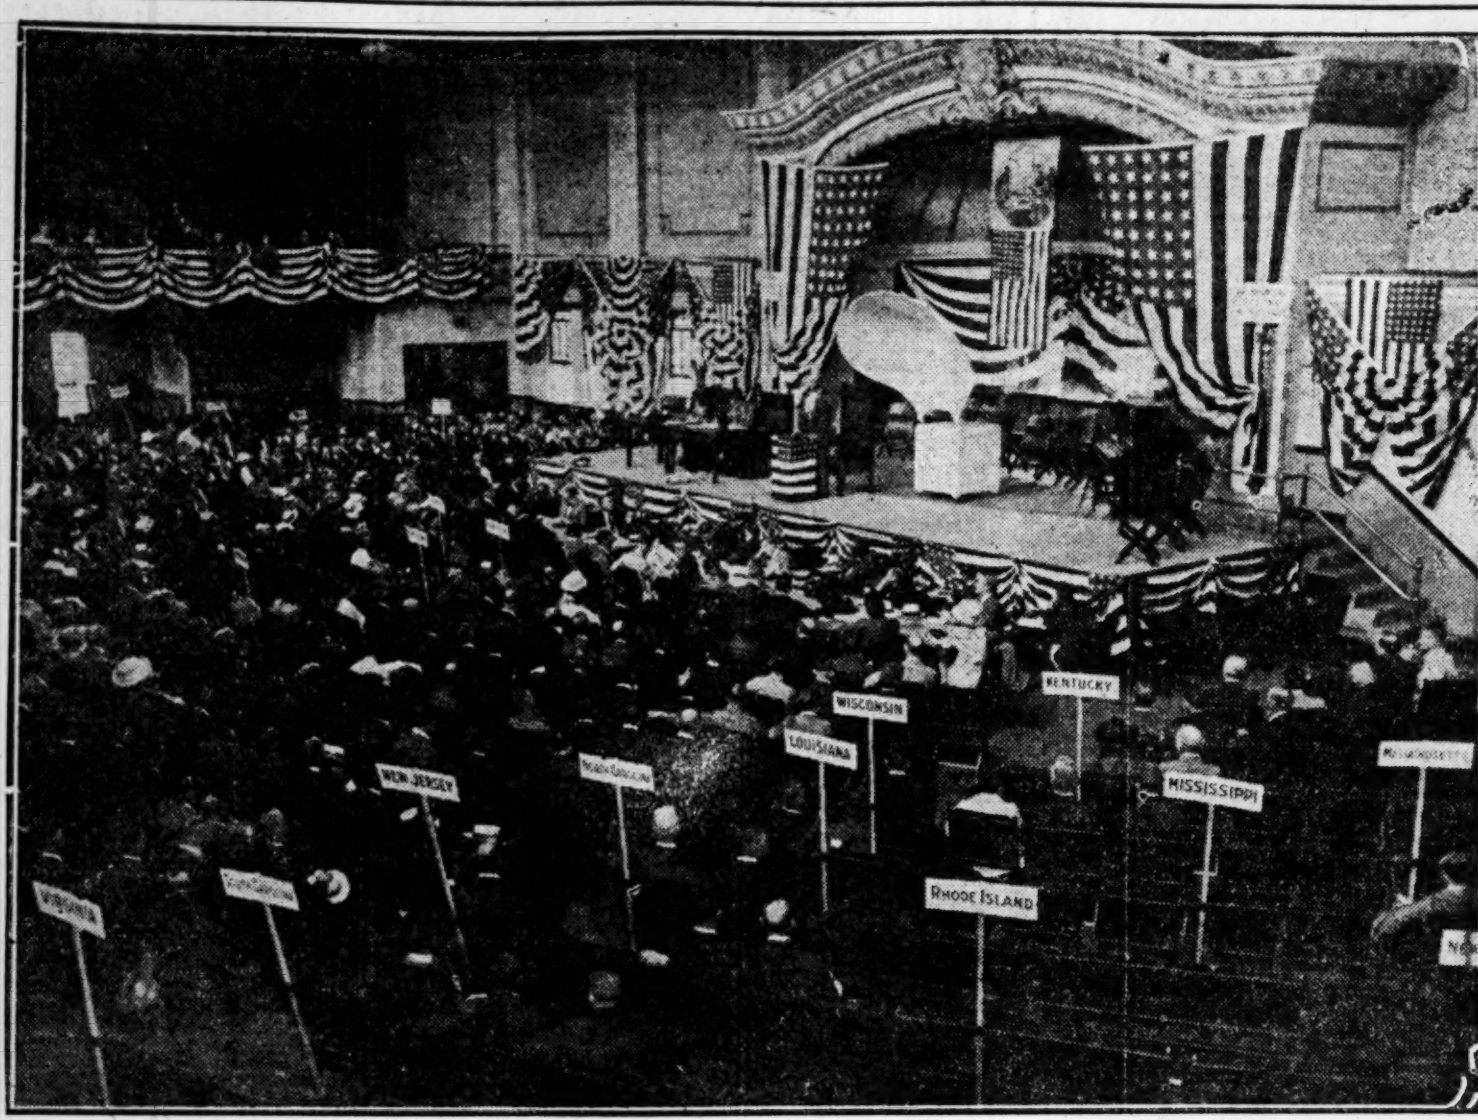

Payroll figures covering 32,982 employees of mine companies producing about 75 per cent of the total anthracite tonnage were submitted to show actual earnings, which, the operators' statement said, have increased from 109 to 119 per cent since 1914. This was supplemented by a table showing that 130 savings banks in the anthracite region show an increase of 48 per cent in savings deposits in the period 1914-1920.

The operators deny the minimum rate for unskilled labor in the bituminous mines is $6 a day. Such a rate in the anthracite region would be out of line with industries in the anthracite field competing for labor, they say, and cite figures to show that other industries in the anthracite region are paying 37 to 48 cents an hour for common labor, 41 to 60 cents for semi-skilled, and 54 to 60 cents for skilled. Against this they place the average anthracite rates of 42 to 54 cents for common labor, 48 to 68 cents for semi-skilled, and 58 cents an hour for skilled (contract miners).

The operators maintain that owing to unlike conditions, increases given to bituminous workers should not control adjustments in the anthracite field, that anthracite mines are on a basis of full time operation and that, based on a comparison of rates paid in other industries in the same territory for like skill and ef-

The Rev. G. C. Richmond Makes Political Speech
as the Opening Prayer

CHICAGO, July 13.—The Rev. George C. Richmond of St. Louis opened the 48-ers' convention here today with a prayer that was received with cheers.

"We are not concerned about heaven and hell," he said. "It is this world in which we are interested. As Jesus failed, so do we."

The prayer charged that Republican candidates "take orders not from Jesus, but from Wall street." It charged that the Democratic party "has sold out to those forces which face moral ruin and spiritual desolation." In Illinois, he said, "the Governor and his parasites are cursed by plutocratic selfishness." He added:

"We are corrupt, mean, low-visioned and selfish. Forgive us, O God, and in the great revolution have us from national dissolution."

Dr. Richmond specifically gave thanks for revolution in Russia, for "the new spirit of self-assertiveness among negroes," and in Ireland. He asked for the destruction "of Palmerism, Penroseism and all other kinds of paganism." He also blessed Eugene Debs, "in his prison cell." This reference was interrupted by cheers.

The former delegates raised a Nonpartisan League standard above their seats.

William Remefer, a Nonpartisan Leaguer from South Dakota, announced the farmers, after spending five days looking over all the conventions in session here, had decided their interests were "identical" with labor. "We have decided to come over and stand with labor, fight with labor and organize with labor," Remefer said amidst cheers.

The "48" convention heard the Resolutions Committee report and approved the co-operative store movement, election laws giving migratory workers a vote and a number of other resolutions, including: Relief from "starvation wages and inhuman treatment" for the postal employees.

Sympathy for Eugene Debs and Jim Larkin, "martyrs to the cause." Demand for the immediate repeal of the Esch-Cummins law and "Democratic management" of the railroads.

Only a national ticket is provided for in the coming election by the report of the Joint Conference Committee of the minority groups. But the report explained, however, that where any of the parties had organized for a state campaign, that organization shall be the recognized state body for 1920.

A committee recommendation for a national campaign composed of three members in each state, at least one of whom must be a woman, was adopted over the protests of the Nonpartisan League delegates, miners and suffragists.

George L. Record, Dudley Field Malone, Allen McCurdy and C. J. Brance of Washington, took the platform before the convention and Record explained the differences. "We feel that Senator Robert La Follette might not agree to run as our candidate if these things were all accepted," Record said.

Yells of "No, no," and "this is no time to talk about candidates" interrupted him. Then there was a counter demonstration in favor of La Follette's name.

Some Planks Agreed to.
Record read some of the planks agreed to by the 48-ers and the Labor party men. The convention held a jubilee when it appeared that the agreement included plans declaring for recognition by the United States of Russian and Irish Governments; and carried its demonstration further when a plank declaring for a referendum before war "except after an act of actual invasion."

Another agreement plank advocated a "refusal to go to war with Mexico at the behest of Wall street," and a proposal for Americanization of the Federal courts for four years, subject to recall.

When Record read the capital levy plank of the Labor platform providing for "graduated taxation upon fortunes over $25,000," there was a round of applause. There was laughter when he said that the 48-ers had not "assented" to this.

Record's report was interrupted by a notification to the convention that the Labor party committee, headed by Max Hayes, entered the hall while the 48-ers were making their plans and was warmly welcomed. Hayes called the 48-ers "fellow partyites" and they cheered him uproariously. He told them all would be seated in the Labor convention.

Hayes told the 48-ers they could "win by 1924." Delegates yelled back "1920." "I have it upon substantial authority that the old parties have had their agents in these conventions," he asserted, "buttonholing delegates, to keep our minority groups apart, so the victory will be easier for them."

Relief from the operation of the Esch-Cummins transportation act," read by Record when he resumed, as another agreement plank got cheers from the 48-ers.

Single tax representatives put in a minority platform plank, and it created a general turmoil. The chairmen of the party, who had been referred to the joint convention, and delegates streamed out of the hall without waiting to adjourn.

A reconsideration of the action on the single tax plank resulted from the mixup. Two planks were finally referred to the joint convention, and delegates streamed out of the hall without waiting to adjourn.

Chairman Christensen, holding the gavel, insisted that the convention had not adjourned until a resolution providing for the retention of "autonomy by the Committee of 48 was read. "We're through," he then announced to the half emptied hall, and the national convention of the Committee of 48 passed out of existence.

Labor Party's Ultimatum to 48-ers Served Last Night.

The Labor party of the United States, in an ultimatum adopted last night after 50 hours of conferences had failed to bring the party and the Committee of Forty-eight together, voted to proceed to the adoption of a platform and selection of candidates if a conference report was not ready by 10 o'clock this morning.

Speaker after speaker in two hours of hectic debate asserted that the "intellectuals" leading the forty-eighters had no real control over the mass of their followers and that an appeal from the Labor party would bring the private of the 48 movement into the labor ranks.

Delegates freely urged that the Labor party "forget all about the 48 leaders and go after the farmers in their convention." They said that the farmer strength in the other meeting had no real identity with the "plutocrats and slick lawyers," who, they asserted, compromise the leadership of the 48 group.

Labor Delegates Restive.
At the height of the vitriolic arraignment of the rival party, Chairman John H. Walker, president of Body of Ralph Gasperson Recovered—Family Was on Picnic.

Ralph Gasperson, 13 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gasperson of Eureka, St. Louis County, was drowned in the Meramec River below the Bald Hill bridge, a mile south of Eureka, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. His body was recovered this morning.

The boy was a poor swimmer, and went into water beyond his depth. He went under and did not reappear.

Ralph, his mother, a married sister and the latter's husband had gone to the river for a picnic. All were in swimming, but the others were unable to rescue him. The body was found by a party of men from Eureka, who were dragging for it, 150 feet below the bridge.

The child Gasperson is a railroad crossing watchman at Eureka.

INEQUALITIES IN CAMPAIGN
EXPENSE ALLOWANCES FOUND

Candidate for Lieutenant-Governor May Spend More Than Men Seeking Senatorships.

One of the inequalities which creep into the operation of laws is shown in the comparative amounts which may be spent in the present campaign by candidates for United States Senator and Lieutenant-Governor under provisions of the Missouri Corrupt Practices Act.

Candidates for United States Senator, a six-year office which will yield an aggregate salary of $45,000 for that period, may spend a total of $6777, according to the Finance Committee of Charles M. Hay, one candidate.

Candidates for Lieutenant-Governor, a four-year office which will pay a total of $4000 for the term, may spend in seeking election, $7663, or nearly twice the total salary of the official, according to the Republican state headquarters, which compiled the figures at the request of a candidate.

This condition is due to the statute requirement that funds to be expended shall be calculated upon the basis of the total vote cast at the last preceding regular election held to fill the office. The figures for United States Senator are based upon the 1918 election, with a total vote of 577,766, while those for Lieutenant-Governor are predicated upon the 1916 vote of 783,297 for that office.

The Illinois Federation of Labor, took the floor to voice a "deep-seated distrust" of "plutocratic philanthropists, lawyers and professional men who endeavor to solve the problems of the working people without themselves being members of that class." He said he didn't really believe it was worth while to try to go any further with the forty-eighters and that the labor delegates, already restive, would be kept here for three weeks waiting for the lawyer-leaders of the other party to "prepare something legal and technical and with phraseology which covered up its real meaning." The labor delegates, Walker declared, were unable to stand the expense of staying here to wait for an agreement at the present rate of progress.

PATRONS REQUEST
REAPPOINTMENT OF
MORGAN TO SCHOOL

Petition From Sherman School Association to Be Presented to Board of Education at Meeting Tonight.

The Board of Education, at its regular monthly meeting tonight, will have before it a petition urging the reappointment of Arden R. Morgan, 5802A McRee avenue, as principal of the Sherman School. The petition bears 1500 signatures, including those of members of the Sherman School Patrons' Association and residents of the Sherman School District.

As has been told, Morgan's name was omitted from the list of appointments for the next term, beginning in September, which was submitted by Superintendent of Instruction Withers at the June meeting of the board, and it was subsequently disclosed that Dr. Withers had acted on the reports of private detectives who had been shadowing the principal.

Morgan demanded a hearing and was exonerated by the Committee on Instruction last week, after the entire board had heard the evidence. An investigation by the board to ascertain the motives employed by Withers to shadow Morgan failed to disclose anything. Floyd B. Young, resident manager of the Burns Detective Agency, said the work had been done in the hands of Withers. At the conclusion of the hearing of the charges against Morgan, Withers said that he would continue to withhold Morgan's appointment pending investigation of "other matters," which, he said, were not related to the reports of the private detectives. He declined to say what the "other matters" were.

The text of the petition requesting Morgan's reappointment follows: "We, the undersigned, patrons, parents and residents of the Sherman School District, note with pleasure and satisfaction the action of your board at the meeting on the 6th inst., in fully exonerating Mr. A. R. Morgan of the charges lodged against him. We therefore ask that Mr. Morgan be reappointed to principal of the Sherman School for the following reasons:

He has the confidence of the patrons, parents and residents. He has the admiration of his pupils. He has the full co-operation of corps of teachers. He is recognized by all as a thorough disciplinarian and an efficient and tactful instructor.

"We appreciate the high standing of Sherman School and the recognized morale of the pupils, which we attribute directly to the work of Mr. Morgan, and we therefore feel that a failure to retain him as principal would be a detriment to the community."

Morgan, who is 60 years old, has been connected with the public schools here for 27 years. He is married.

SAYS ROBBERS TOOK NEW AUTO

Alton Man Tells of Being Gagged and Left on Road.

L. P. Ousley of Alton reported to the Madison County authorities last night that three men with revolvers waylaid him near Granite City at 9 o'clock last night, bound and gagged him, took $25 from his pockets, left him lying by the roadside and drove away with his new five-passenger automobile.

Ousley said that half an hour after the thieves departed he removed the gag from his mouth and called for help. Farmers found him. He could not remember his license tag number last night but he recalled it this morning.

FIRE IN APARTMENT BASEMENT

Blaze at "Harlan Court" Confined to Lockers.

A number of families in the Harlan Court Apartments, 5455 Delmar boulevard, hurried into the street at 8:50 o'clock last night when smoke from a fire in the basement of the building spread through the upper floors. Firemen confined the blaze to lockers in the basement, and kept it from spreading to the living rooms above.

The damage was estimated at about $3000. The origin was not ascertained. The lockers are used for storing goods belonging to the tenants of the apartments.

PROXY PAYS SPEEDER'S FINE

S. U. Busch of Webster Groves Sends Fee by Judge Hodgdon.

Sidney U. Busch of Webster Groves, president of the Sidney U. Busch Railway Supply Co., was arrested last night for speeding on the North and South road, just south of the Clayton road, in St. Louis County.

When his case was called in Justice Werremeyer's court in Clayton today, Probate Judge Hodgdon of St. Louis County appeared with $1.46 to pay Busch's fine. He said he had been requested to pay the fine by a friend of Busch, who said that Busch had been compelled to leave the city.

JULIEN GORDON, GRANDNIECE OF WASHINGTON IRVING, DIES

Authoress Wrote Several Successful Novels of New York and Washington Society.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 13.—Mrs. Julie Gordon Storrow Cruger, who died yesterday, was the widow of Col. S. Van Rensselaer Cruger of this city and the divorced wife of Wade Chance of this city and London. She was well known by her pen name of Julien Gordon, under which she wrote several successful novels of New York and Washington society.

Mrs. Cruger was the daughter of Thomas Wentworth Storrow of Boston and a grandniece of Washington Irving. Her first husband, who died in 1838, left her a large fortune, and in 1808 she was married in Washington to Wade Chance, a broker, 10 years her junior. They lived together in London for 13 months, and then separated. Both then sought the courts, Chance finally winning a decision in Los Angeles in 1915, the action not being opposed.

It was after the death of Col. Cruger that Julien Gordon's novels began to attract attention, the most popular being "Mr. Clyde," "Vampires" and "A Diplomat's Diary." The character of all being easily recognized. Mrs. Cruger's homes at that period, in New York and Oyster Bay, were said to approach the French salons as near as was possible under American conditions. She moved to Italy for a time and then went to Washington, where her second marriage surprised her friends.

MCKINLEY BRIDGE VEHICLE
TOLLS WERE $103,625 IN 1919

Receipts More Than Doubled Since 1915—City Opposes Granting an Advance.

A hearing into the proposal of the company operating the McKinley bridge to increase the roadway toll rates was resumed today before Col. DeWitt Jones of the St. Louis office of the Engineering Corps of the United States Army, the War Department having assumed jurisdiction.

A memorandum of receipts from toll collections on the bridge between the years of 1915 and 1919, inclusive, showed that the tolls were about 150 per cent greater in 1919 than in 1915. C. E. Smith, consulting engineer for the city, which, with the increase of tolls, is opposing the increase, said that there was no evidence to show that the expense of maintaining the bridge roadway had increased in a like proportion.

He declared that the receipts from tolls likely would continue to increase and that the higher toll rates hence could not be justified. The receipts for the period named were: 1915, $41,373.99; 1916, $58,373.65; 1917, $72,220.41; 1918, $87,030.70; and 1919, $103,625.36.

Smith pointed out that the proposed new schedule contemplates the largest increase for trucks and discriminates between trucks from 1 and 3 to 5-ton capacity and trucks of 5-ton and more capacity, in particular. The company alleges that the greatest damage is done by the trucks of larger capacity and that these heavy loads should bear the heavier burden of tolls. The Chamber of Commerce declares that the proposed charge for trucks of over 5 tons capacity is prohibitive.

BRYAN OBEAR, CONSULTING ENGINEER, DIES AT 65 YEARS

Was Inventor of Smoke Preventing Devices—Had Stock Farm at Crescent.

Bryant Obeare, 65 years old, 13 North Spring avenue, consulting engineer, died of stomach trouble at St. Luke's Hospital yesterday. The funeral will be at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the home of his son, Dr. Malvern B. Obeare, 5391 Waterman avenue.

Obeare was a widower and had no children. He was born in St. Louis, Mo., and was a graduate of the University and Virginia Military Institute. He was the patentee of several smoke-preventing devices. He formerly operated a stock farm in Boone County, Mo., where he also was in the real estate business. He was in charge of an engineering work in Arizona from 1882 to 1887. Later he was secretary-treasurer of the Julian Mining and Mill Co., and manager of the Western Smoke Preventer Co. of Chicago. From 1894 to 1900 he was a stock raiser at Crescent, St. Louis County, and afterwards was manager of the Montague Compressed Air Co.

He declared that on one occasion Methudy said to him: "I want Edna to get a divorce; I'm tired of it all." Dawson declared that Methudy said, "I don't give a damn how she feels about it. He said, Dawson testified that he was willing to allow her $40 a month of $5000 in gross. Dawson said that he replied that $5000 wouldn't provide for Mrs. Methudy for two years.

BOY, 6, CRITICALLY BURNED

Lights Piece of Fuse and Clothing Catches Fire.

Leo Clinisky, 6 years old, son of John Clinisky of 137 O'Fallon street, was critically burned yesterday afternoon at his home when his clothing caught fire from a piece of fuse he had lighted. He found the fuse in Columbus Square, Tenth and Carr streets, where it had been used with fireworks Sunday evening.

The boy was taken to the city hospital, where it was said he may lose the sight of both eyes. His face and chest were burned.

Sidney U. Busch of Webster Groves, president of the Sidney U. Busch Railway Supply Co., was arrested last night for speeding on the North and South road, just south of the Clayton road, in St. Louis County.

When his case was called in Justice Werremeyer's court in Clayton today, Probate Judge Hodgdon of St. Louis County appeared with $1.46 to pay Busch's fine. He said he had been requested to pay the fine by a friend of Busch, who said that Busch had been compelled to leave the city.

JAM IN COURTROOM
AT METHUDY HEARING

Mrs. Methudy's Father Testifies He or Wife Was Present When She Met Dixon.

Spectators were perched on window sills and on railings and many were standing so close to the counsel table that lawyers had difficulty in moving about when the divorce suit of Eugene R. Methudy, president of the Methudy Tire and Rubber Co., 2549 Lindell avenue, against Mrs. Edna Methudy, 1722 Waverly place, was resumed in Circuit Judge Calhoun's court today.

The testimony involving the manner in which Methudy and his wife conducted themselves at the Midland Valley Country Club was attracted so much attention that it attaches from other courtrooms and persons having nothing else to do have been crowding Judge Calhoun's division at each session of the trial which began about 10 days ago.

The principal witness today was E. J. Dienst, manufacturer of leaf tobacco, who testified in behalf of his daughter, Mrs. Methudy. He said that either he or his wife were present every time Mrs. Methudy met Ozo Dixon, who has been mentioned in Methudy's petition, at the Midland Valley Club.

"Conducted Self as Gentleman," He said it was nothing for Mrs. Methudy and Dixon to sit on the lawn at night. That was customary, he said, among the dancers at the club who wished to cool off between dances. He said that when his family remained over-night at the club, Mrs. Methudy always was in bed before he or his wife were asleep. He said that Dixon always conducted himself as a gentleman and was no more than a friend to Mrs. Methudy.

Several residents of Overland Park, the home of Frank Duttenhofer, testified that the golf caddy who testified that he had seen Mrs. Methudy and Dixon making love on the golf links at the Midland Valley Country Club, appeared today as witnesses and testified that the boy's reputation for telling the truth was poor.

Mrs. W. L. Whipple, 5096A Delmar boulevard, wife of a dentist, testified that the golf caddy worn by Mrs. Methudy, about which Methudy and his lawyers have had so much to say, were modest. The knickerbockers were full, Mrs. Whipple said, and were similar to those worn by other women on the links.

An Aunt Testifies.
Mrs. R. J. Dawson, an aunt of Mrs. Methudy, was asked about Mrs. Methudy's manner of dancing with Dixon, witnesses for Methudy having testified that the defendant was affectionate toward Dixon. She said that Mrs. Methudy's dancing always was proper. Methudy, she said, when dancing with her (the witness) held her so tightly she could scarcely move.

YACHTS WAITING FOR START OF CUP RACES THURSDAY

Fleet of Pleasure Craft Assemble While Resolute and Shamrock IV Tune Up for International Contest.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 13.—Resolute, the America's cup defender, and Shamrock IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's cup challenger, were both anchored yesterday in Sandy Hook bay preparatory to the international races which start on Thursday.

Soon after they were snugly moored a fleet of pleasure yachts began arriving and the waters of the horseshoe, formed by the Hook, began to resume somewhat the appearance they presented during the last cup races 17 years ago.

While the changed navigation laws are certain to reduce by hundreds the number of boats that used to assemble for the event, the gathering of an advance fleet at once was an indication that the races will be anything but lonesome when they stretch their canvas wind catchers in competition.

Just how the cup yachts can be cleaned of the oil that clung to their overboard in South Brooklyn after being measured, was a problem still to be solved. Both were cleaned and polished while in dry dock. As soon as Resolute was lowered into the water the oil on the surface clung to her hull. There was a big black blotch of it along her waterline. This was scrubbed off but traces of it deeper down were soon when she went out for a short spin to try the new suit of sails she will use in the races. All of yesterday afternoon was spent pulling the mainsail out taut, but she may be taken to the Staten Island Ship Building Co.'s yard today to be dry docked and cleaned again.

Silk From Shamrock III on Hull.

Before Shamrock was put overboard yesterday afternoon strips of a silk spinnaker left from Shamrock III were tacked around her hull at the waterline. This turned black from the oil almost as soon as she floated. Two pieces of the silk washed away and her hull was smeared somewhat, but Capt. W. P. Burton said last night he thought she could be cleaned without another dry docking.

Capt. Burton plans to take Shamrock out for a spin today and tomorrow, too. That will mean a sail on the day before the first race, but the challenger has had little sailing and she has some new gear to try out. She has her new bowsprit, a new topsail yard and a new topsail that have not been used and tested.

Shamrock's spars were measured by Prof. Harold W. Webb of Columbia University as she was towed down the bay. He made the trip alone in a boat's chair. At the Hook he went aboard the Resolute and taped her spars. He will go over all his elaborate figures today and tonight may have computed the ratings of the two yachts. From these the time allowance Shamrock will be required to give will be determined.

Sir Thomas' whole fleet moved down from Red Hook Flats to Sandy Hook as soon as the challenger was in the water. His steam yacht Victoria towed Shamrock IV and her trial horse, the 23-meter Shamrock. There was a lively southerly breeze blowing at the Hook which would have made ideal sailing. It is hoped there will be a breeze both today and tomorrow as well as on the first race day, so Shamrock may be taken out for trials. She is far behind Resolute in tuning up and it would be unfortunate if she should have to go to the starting line without even a test of her whole rig.

Sir Thomas was tendered a dinner last night at the Atlantic Yacht Club at Sea Gate, by Commodore E. L. Doherty. He will be the guest at dinner tonight of Commodore J. P. Morgan of the New York Yacht Club, on board the flagship Corsair, which will be anchored in the Hudson off Eighty-sixth street.

Intimate Friend of Empress Eugenie. Sir Thomas was one of the few intimate friends of the Empress Eugenie, who died Sunday. He spoke of her yesterday as being a remarkably clever woman. She was Scotch as he is, and one of her delights was Scotch wit. She made many trips with him on his steam yacht Erin and he was her escort on many railroad journeys, the Empress usually traveling under an assumed name.

WOMEN GRANTED REHEARING BEFORE SENATE COMMITTEE

Mrs. John R. Leighty and Miss Mary Semple Scott to Testify Again

Demand of Mrs. John R. Leighty, chairman, and Miss Mary Semple Scott, vice chairman, of the Missouri High Cost of Living Campaign, for a rehearing before the Senate committee investigating presidential expenditures, before which they testified at a hearing here last Friday, has been granted by Senator Seiden P. Spencer, a member of the committee.

Miss Scott charges that the whole trend of the investigation as it was conducted here Friday, at sessions attended by Senators Spencer, Kenyon and Reed, was an effort to whitewash Senator Reed, whom I have fought and whom I still intend to fight for his attitude toward the women of Missouri.

He took her to Spain, Portugal, Africa, Egypt and Ceylon.

When they planned a trip to the Suez Canal the Empress said to him: "The last time I was at Suez was with the Emperor."

That was when Napoleon attended the opening of the canal.

Sir Thomas took the Empress to Tangier and when they arrived there he started to get a carriage to drive her about. She saw a number of small donkeys and inquired what they were for. Told they were to ride about on she expressed a preference for one of them. So the Empress rode about the streets of Tangier on a donkey, the natives not knowing who she was.

WRIT ISSUED AGAINST DRY LAW REFERENDUM

Supreme Court Grants Injunction Sought by Anti-Saloon League to Restrict Attorney-General.

By the Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 13.—The Missouri Supreme Court yesterday sustained the injunction suit brought by C. C. Carson of this city at the instance of the Missouri Anti-Saloon League to restrain the Attorney-General and the Secretary of State of Missouri from submitting to a popular vote under referendum the action of the last Legislature in ratifying Federal prohibition.

The opinion, written by Chief Justice Walker and concurred in by the other members of the court, held that since the Federal Constitution prescribes the method of adopting or rejecting proposed amendments to the Federal Constitution, it does not come within the province of a state to adopt some other method. The ruling is in line with the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court relative to ratification of the eighteenth amendment.

ADDITIONAL CENSUS FIGURES

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Census figures given out today include:
North Adams, Mass., 22,282; increase 263, or 1 1/4 per cent.
Provo, Utah, 10,303; increase 1378, or 15.4 per cent.

Taft Named by Grand Trunk.

By the Associated Press.
MONTREAL, July 13.—Former President William H. Taft of the United States has been appointed to represent the Grand Trunk Railroad on a Board of Arbitration to determine the amount to be paid the Government for the stock of the corporation.

Church Window Wrecked in Storm.
A window 15 feet high and eight feet wide, in St. John's M. E. Church at Edwardsville, directly over the main entrance, was blown in yesterday afternoon during a thunderstorm.

CANDIDATES CENTERING EFFORTS IN ST. LOUIS

Hyde Opens Office Here in Attempt to Break Lineup for McJinney.

Aggressive steps have been taken by three candidates within the last few days to obtain the support of the St. Louis organizations in their race for State offices.

Arthur M. Hyde of Trenton, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, Saturday opened headquarters on the third floor of the Odd Fellows building, Ninth and Olive streets, just three doors from the offices of the Republican City Committee. John Schmolli, one of the chief backers in St. Louis of E. E. McJinney, Hyde's opponent, is chairman of the City Committee. Republican politicians say this presages a hard effort on Hyde's part to break the line established for McJinney by the Kiel-Schmolli faction here early in the campaign.

Farris' Backers Meet.
Yesterday two candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor, John M. Atkinson and Frank H. Farris, took measures looking toward organization support here. With the withdrawal of Lieutenant-Governor Wallace Crossley from the race, friends of Atkinson and Farris contend that these two candidates will score most heavily in St. Louis. Farris yesterday had an organization meeting at the Planters Hotel, attended by about 140 politicians from most of the congressional districts. Twelve members of the Democratic City Committee of St. Louis were at the meeting, most of them, however, for the purpose of "siding up" the situation. Four of the candidates pledged to support Farris. Atkinson's move was in the establishing of headquarters in four rooms on the second floor of the Laclede Hotel, the same suite from which he directed the winning campaign of Gov. Gardner, four years ago. The headquarters are directed by William C. Connert, Earl F. Nelson, J. H. Dickbrader and A. L. Harby of St. Louis and Richard Correll of Clark.

Houchin for Atkinson.
Atkinson's friends point to the accession to their forces of James H. Houchin, whose support has been pledged to Atkinson since the withdrawal of Crossley. Houchin, who twice made the race for the nomination himself, had supported Crossley through personal friendship. With the opening of the Hyde and Atkinson headquarters here, eight candidates for Governor and United States senator are directing their campaigns from St. Louis. The other five are: Dwight F. Davis, Senator Seiden P. Spencer and James L. Mianis, Republican candidates for senator; Judge H. S. Priest, Charles M. Hay and Breckinridge Long, Democratic candidates for senator.

Charles H. Mayer of St. Joseph, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, arrived in St. Louis this morning on his way home from Ironton, where last night he closed his speaking campaign in Southeast Missouri. He also had spoken at Poplar Bluff and Piedmont yesterday. He has been in Southeast Missouri since July 1.

Mayer said that residents of that section of the State seem even better pleased with the nomination of Cox, than they were in 1912 with the nomination of Wilson. He had campaigned in the same section immediately after the Baltimore convention. Mayer said that the reception accorded him had given him confidence in his own success in the primary Aug. 3.

PISTOL AND MONEY HIDDEN IN IT STOLEN FROM HOME

Burglars at Another House Chop Down Basement Door to Get to Liquor on Third Floor.

The magazine of an automatic pistol was selected by Robert Thompson, 437 1/2 Swan avenue, as the hiding place for three $10 bills that he wanted to leave at home last night while he went out. In his absence burglars broke into the home and stole the pistol with the money in it.

Burglars in the home of William J. Carton, 330 North Newstead avenue, chopped down a cellar door with an ax and went to the third floor, where they selected a quart of whiskey and a quart of vermouth from Carter's private stock, taking only the two bottles. They left the ax in the attic.

Whiskey and other liquors were stolen from the home of Elmer E. Percy, 4238 Maryland avenue, by burglars yesterday, according to a report to the police by Percy's brother-in-law, Roy McCord, 4241 Maryland avenue. The Percy family is out of the city and McCord said he could not tell the value of the liquor taken.

Grasshopper Swarms in Michigan.

MASH FOUND ON BURGLAR HUNT

Barrel Discovered in House in Which Woman Phoned There Was Robber.

Upon a telephone call from a woman that burglars were in a house at 1315 North Eighth street yesterday at 6 p. m. the police went to the house and found William Hunt, 27 years old, 2100 North Broadway, who answered questions incoherently. The house was the home of John de Lisle, who was absent. In it the police discovered that a barrel marked "water cooler" contained whisky mash in an advanced stage of fermentation. Upon De Lisle's return he was arrested and is held, with Hunt, for prohibition enforcement officers.

A bazar at 6220 Westminster place under the management of Misses Grace and Jane Moulton of 6227 McPherson avenue, Frank Miller of Memphis, Tenn., and Miss Elizabeth Peters of 6220 Westminster place, netted $25 for the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Ice Fund. It was the third bazar of the season and ranks second in point of returns, first place being held by a bazar which earned $40, under the supervision of seven Washington terrace girls.

Fifteen children of the neighborhood of 5340 Gilson avenue present.

ed a show at that address recently and earned $8.80 for the babies. The children were: Ida, and Bernice Kenick, Eleanor, Veronica and Buddy Toohy, Farrel Johnson, William Crawford, Alice McCarron, Winifred Miller, Myrtle and Frederick Kurtzborn, Elmer Vogt, Lester Seberg, Rhinehard Stells and Royce Deamer.

Five little girls of Glendale, Mo., dancing pupils of Miss Jean Nicholson, gave a play on the lawn at 10 Parkland place, Glendale, recently and earned $7 for the Milk and Ice Fund. Their names follow: Helen Weber, Louise Murray, Bernice and Susanna Ryan and Lorraine Casey.

A lemonade stand at Union and Delmar avenues made $6.40 for the babies. It was managed by Clara Goldberg and Thelma Shapiro.

The proceeds of a show given at 5627 Vernon avenue, amounting to $5, were turned into the fund yesterday. The following children participated in the performance: Elizabeth Skelton, Daisy and Elmer O'Bannon, Julia and Jane Gammous and Elizabeth and Catherine Gutting.

David Spector and Jean Charak of 6023 Maple avenue conducted a lemonade stand and earned $2. Children in the neighborhood of 2308 South Compton avenue gave a show last week and earned $1. Among the regular weekly workers for the Milk and Ice Fund, Billy and Ines Woodward, 5255 Vernon avenue, are exceedingly faithful. They turned in $1 yesterday stating that they had earned that amount by selling ice cream among their neighbors.

Miss Florence Guilfoxy, 4407A Vista avenue earned $1 cents by conducting a lemonade stand at her home.

Only one cash contribution was received yesterday—it was $5 from the Rand children.

Illinois Woman Dies at 108.

TITLE TO GERARDI PROPERTY CLEARED BY COURT DECISION

Sheriff's Sale of Realty at King's Highway and Maryland Is Set Aside.

A Sheriff's sale of realty at King's highway and Maryland avenue, occupied by Mrs. Annie Gerardi, and valued at $140,000, was set aside yesterday by Circuit Judge Shields. The property had been auctioned by the Sheriff to J. Brooks Johnson, a money lender, for $10. The sale took place under a judgment obtained against Mrs. Gerardi 20 years ago in favor of the Beattie Manufacturing Co., the amount being $14,236.

The judgment was bought by Johnson and, after the defendant had failed to pay, he caused a levy to be made upon Mrs. Gerardi's realty, title to which stands in the name of The Rookery Loan, Investment & Building Co., and it was advertised for sale.

Johnson at the sale acquired the deed subject to the judgment. After he became holder of the judgment he had it revived, but the Court holds that the order of revival was void, and therefore the whole transaction is void. The suit to set aside the sale was filed by the Gerardi interests for the purpose of clearing title to the land.

COMPENSATION ACT TO GO BEFORE VOTERS

Supreme Court Dissolves Injunction Against Certification of Petitions.

The Supreme Court of Missouri yesterday declared that referendum petitions on the workmen's compensation act passed by the last Legislature are legal and dismissed the injunction granted by the Cole County Circuit Court restraining the Secretary of State and the Attorney General from certifying them and issuing ballot titles for a submission of the law to voters at the Nov. 2 election.

The application for the restraining order was made by Henry Westhus, prosecuting attorney of Cole County, John C. Hall, attorney for the Associated Industries of Missouri, and R. T. Wood, president of the State Federation of Labor. The Supreme Court declares that the action was a succession of errors, beginning when Westhus exceeded his authority in applying for the injunction.

The chief allegation of the petitioners was that the law carried an emergency clause and for that reason could not be submitted to a referendum. The Supreme Court declares that laws carrying emergency clauses are subject to a referendum. It also declares that no injunction against a referendum can be issued until the petitions for the referendum are filed.

The circulation of referendum petitions on the law is attributed to lawyers and physicians in St. Louis who, it was testified in the Cole County hearing, contributed between $4500 and $5000 to the expense of their circulation. Maurice J. Cassidy, secretary of the Building Trades Council of St. Louis, was named as the director of the circulation here. President Woods of the Federation of Labor testified that 90 per cent of the laboring men of the State favored the bill.

The act was to have been in effect last Nov. 1, but Gov. Gardner has refused to name the commission for its enforcement pending the outcome of the referendum litigation.

ARM FOUND IN THE NIAGARA

Believed to Have Been Part of Body of Barrel Rider.

By the Associated Press, N. Y., July 13.—The right arm of a man taken from the Niagara River near the Maid of the Mist landing late yesterday is believed to be part of the body of George C. Stephens of Bristol, England, who was killed in an attempt yesterday to go over the Horseshoe Falls in a barrel.

TORONTO, July 13.—Charles George Stephens was so sure Sunday that his plunge over Niagara Falls in a barrel would be successful that before undertaking the feat which cost him his life he wrote the following cable to be sent to his wife when his safety was assured: "Feat accomplished. Tell Dan." Dan was Stephens' manager.

The message actually sent to the mother of Stephens' nine children in Bristol, England, was: "Professor Stephens lost in attempt."

A Pittsburger, Who Caused a Sensation, Tells of Results ANCIENT TONIC HIS SECRET

Hundreds of Thousands of Families Found Health and Happiness by Following His Instructions.

Six years ago H. H. Von Schlick could be seen any day visiting prominent Pittsburgh business men in their downtown offices. He carried a satchel, and his arrival was always greeted by a smile indicating welcome. These men were his customers. They drank at his "fountain of youth." They accredited him with a new lease of life and the healthy condition of their families.

Von Schlick has bright eyes and his cheeks indicate that pure red blood flows through his veins. He says he is younger at 50 than he was at 35. He has never had a sick spell, or any of the symptoms of the ailments which afflicted him before he began using a tea, the ingredients of which were conveyed to him by an old Bulgarian 20 years ago. Von Schlick makes this statement:

"I was recovering from the grippe, was run down, had a dizzy feeling in the head, and felt like the victim of the shock-worm. This old Bulgarian knew of my sickness and while in the office suggested, 'I will give you something to make you feel better.' He returned the next day with a package and told me to use one teaspoonful in a cup of hot water, and to repeat the dose once each night for a little while. He promised I would never be troubled from sickness again. I followed the prescription, skeptical, of course, and one day later I was feeling like old man to secure from him the ingredients of that tonic.

100 YEARS YOUNG
"He explained to me that in Bulgaria the older families regarded this tonic as the great disease preventive and health restorer; it was handed down from generation to generation. At the first symptom of any weakness the mother or women of the family made the tea for all members. It is a well-known fact the Bulgarians are the oldest and healthiest people in the world.

"In Bulgaria and the Balkan countries of Eastern Europe, in spite of poor sanitary conditions, among 1,000,000 inhabitants there are 1000 over 100 years old. In France there is only one person in 1,000,000 over 100 years old, and in Germany only one person in 1,100,000. It is a rare case in the United States when a man dies after reaching the century mark.

"My Bulgarian friend informed me that his progenitors reached this time of life and that they still had a healthy and happy old age. Asked for a re-

99-YEAR PENITENTIARY SENTENCE FOR NEGRO

Andrew Banks of East St. Louis Pleads Guilty of Assaulting a White Woman.

A sentence of 99 years in the penitentiary today was imposed by Judge Landwehr upon Andrew Banks, a negro, 28 years old, of East St. Louis, upon his plea of guilty to a criminal assault upon Mrs. Arabella Walters, 39 years old, 2007 Destrehan street, on last June 2.

After choking Mrs. Walters into insensibility, Banks stole her wedding ring and 45 cents. He was arrested as he was trying to dispose of stolen clothing in a Market street pawnshop. At that time, frequent criminal assaults upon women by a negro were being reported to the police and the women were being asked to look at all negroes who approached the descriptions they had given.

Mrs. Walters identified Banks as her assailant and the identification was corroborated by a neighbor woman who had observed the negro enter and leave the Walters' home through a window. Banks, at the time of his arrest, denied that he had been in the vicinity of the Walters' home.

Benjamin F. Pippens, 31, 2367 A Walnut street, a negro chauffeur against whom there are three indictments charging criminal assaults upon white women, was arraigned and pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for July 26.

Pippens, when arrested, was said to have confessed to attacks on six white women and was held by the police to be responsible for nearly all of the repeated complaints to them. Three of the women identified him as their assailant.

SECOND ACCIDENT IN TWO DAYS FOR MOTOR CYCLE POLICEMAN

Sergeant Schroeder is Struck by Truck at West Pine and Sarah

Sergeant Arthur J. Schroeder, 43 years old, 3876 Washington boulevard, in charge of the police motor cycle squad, was thrown from his motor cycle yesterday afternoon, the second accident to him in two days, when it was struck by a truck driven by Henry A. Small, Kinloch, St. Louis County, at West Pine boulevard and Sarah street.

Sergeant Schroeder was knocked from his motor cycle when it was struck by an automobile driven by Mrs. Jean Foote, 3646 Washington boulevard, at Pendleton avenue and Delmar boulevard Sunday night, and suffered a sprained knee and cuts and bruises. His injuries did not prevent him from returning to work yesterday. When following an automobile south on Sarah street, he was hit by Small's truck as Small swerved to avoid hitting the machine the policeman was following. The motor cycle was demolished, but Sergeant Schroeder was unhurt. Small was fined $10 and costs in Police Court today for careless driving.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO HARDING NOTIFICATION IS DISCUSSED

Babler and Cole Making Arrangements for Trip of Missouri Republicans on July 22.

Special coaches and possibly a special train will be chartered to convey Missouri Republicans to Marion, O., to the Harding notification ceremonies July 22, if the plans of Republican National Committee Babler and State Chairman Cole are carried out.

Cole will appoint committees this week to arrange for the trip and will have a large number of invitations sent out into the State from headquarters here.

Babler will depart this week for Port Huron, Mich., for a brief vacation. He will go to Columbus, O., July 21 to attend a banquet to be given that night by Harry M. Daugherty, Harding's manager, at which the presidential nominee will be present. Babler said that he will try to get Harding to be the guest of the Missourians on the trip from Columbus to Marion the next day for the notification.

WOMAN IS MEMBER OF CREW IN LONG VOYAGE BY CUTTER

Writer's Sister Helps to Sail Boat From England to South Pacific Islands.

By the Associated Press. SYDNEY, Australia, July 13.—Ralph Stock, an Australian magazine writer, accompanied by his sister and an army officer friend named Rundle, lately accomplished a voyage from Devonshire, England, via the Panama Canal to Nukualofa in the Tonga Group in a 21-ton cutter. The party left England on July

21. The route was by way of Vigo, Spain, Las Palmas in the Canary Islands, Barbadoes, the Galapagos Islands, the Marquesas Islands, the Low Archipelago, Tahiti, Palmerston Island and Niue Island. Nukualofa was reached in April. On the way to Barbadoes the cutter was becalmed nearly a week, and almost a month was spent by the voyagers in the West Indies. Before the Panama Canal was reached the party stripped the cutter so as to reduce her measurement with the result that the toll through the canal was only $12. This, in Stock's opinion, is probably the smallest toll on record.

Miss Stock did her share of navigating the boat, and according to her brother, was "the best of the crew." The voyagers sold the cutter at Nukualofa for a handsome sum. They plan to sail back to England via the Suez Canal.

TO QUIZ SENATORIAL CANDIDATES ON LEAGUE

Reed Has Series of Questions to Propound to Missourians Seeking Office.

By the Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 13.—Senator James A. Reed last night made public a set of questions which he intends to propound to all Republican and Democratic candidates for United States Senator from Missouri relative to their stand on the League of Nations.

The questions, Senator Reed said, will be asked in his speech at St. Joseph tomorrow night. They are: "If you are elected to the United States Senate will you advise and consent to any treaty, covenant or agreement: First, which gives to the British Empire six votes and to the United States but one vote in the assembly of the League of Nations? "Second, will you advise and consent to any treaty, covenant or agreement which obligates the submission of a dispute with another nation involving the vital interests of the United States or the national honor, to a tribunal of seven aliens, representing seven foreign Governments (the United States and its antagonist being barred from a seat or vote because parties litigant)?

"Third, will you advise and consent to any treaty, covenant or agreement which clearly reserves to the United States the right to increase the size of its army and navy, if actually menaced with attack or invaded by a foreign enemy, without first obtaining the unanimous consent of a tribunal composed of eight foreigners and only one representative of the United States?

"Fourth, will you consent to any treaty which binds the United States, regardless of the merits of the controversy, to defend the frontiers of foreign countries against attack or to preserve the existing political independencies of such countries?

"Fifth, will you consent to any treaty which does not leave the United States, upon proper notice, free to withdraw from the League and to determine for itself whether at the time of withdrawal it has fulfilled its international obligations and its obligations under the league? "Sixth, will you consent to any treaty which does not in clear and positive language preserve the Monroe Doctrine and retain for the United States the right to construe that doctrine for itself?"

In a prepared statement, Senator Reed said:

"I trust no one invited to answer these questions will seek to evade a direct answer by arguing that the League covenant does not impose the obligations covered by the foregoing questions.

"If they answer that they are opposed to the surrender of national rights as indicated by the questions, then there will be no disagreement between myself and them upon the matter of principle and the only question remaining will be whether the League contains the obligations and defects indicated by the questions.

"I shall find very great pleasure in attempting to indicate that it does, and shall leave to these distinguished gentlemen the negative of the question if they desire to assume it."

Hay Challenges Reed to Joint Debate at St. Joseph.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 13.—A challenge to Senator James A. Reed for debate on questions propounded by him to candidates for United States Senator from Missouri on their League of Nations views, was issued here this afternoon by Charles M. Hay of St. Louis, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Senator.

Hay, in the challenge sent to Reed, a copy of which was made public, said: "I have received newspaper reports of questions you propose to put to me and other senatorial candidates in your speech at St. Joseph tomorrow night. Since you want to question me, if you will divide your time with me, I will be there in person to answer questions and to put some to you."

"Your questions are unfair and you know it. You further know that your official position and Republican assistance enable you to sow your misrepresentations and poisonous statements broadcast and that to answer you is difficult, except by joint discussion. You are seeking to mislead your own constituents on every proposition referred. I can answer you, and you know it, not because I am your superior in debate, but simply because I have the courage to read the league document and tell the truth about it. Are you now willing to have me answer in person? If so, wire me at my expense today at the Colonial Hotel, Springfield, Mo."

Hay will speak here tonight.

"TUBERCULOSIS CONTROLLER" FOR CITY NAMED BY MAYOR

Dr. Joseph F. Bredek, 30 years old, of 3740 North Ninth street, yesterday was appointed "Controller of Tuberculosis" for the city, a post created by an ordinance which received the Mayor's signature just prior to the appointment. Dr. Bredek's salary will be $3000 a year and he will have charge, among other things, of the methods of treatment at Koch Hospital.

Dr. Bredek is a graduate of Washington University, of the Trudeau School of Tuberculosis at Saranac Lake, N. Y., and received a degree of doctor of public health at the University of Pennsylvania. He has studied tuberculosis conditions in New York City, Philadelphia and Baltimore. He served as a medical officer overseas in the recent war. He will have the title of Assistant Hospital Commissioner.

IN STATE INDICATEDState and Federal Estimate 184-508,000 Bushels; Wheat Under Last Year; Other Crops.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 12.—Missouri crop prospects indicate 184-508,000 bushels of corn; 21,298,000 bushels of wheat, and 40,526 bushels of oats, according to E. A. Logan, agricultural statistician, U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates, and Jewell Mayes, secretary of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture, against 155,412,000 bushels of corn, 57,693,000 bushels of wheat and 38,259,000 bushels of oats last year. Apples and peaches dropped badly during June and gardens were hard hit by drought but now have been relieved.

The 1920 Missouri corn crop is planted on 8,510,000 acres, an increase of 15 per cent over the acreage of 5,756,000 in 1919, but is still about 600,000 acres below the pre-war area. Farmers dropped from 10 to 12 inches of corn crop more, but the long continued spring rains prevented. The greatest shortage is in Northeast Missouri, where corn is the dominant crop, and to a lesser extent in East and South Central Missouri. The crop is in most sections from two to three weeks late. The stands are generally good, a few thin, and cultivation has been excellent in nearly all sections. Much ground is cloddy, fields having been plowed wet. Height is irregular; fields laid by are alongside of those plowed first time. Rains have improved the conditions materially. July prospect of 27.8 bushels per acre indicates a yield of 184,100,000 bushels against the prospect last July for 147,354,000 bushels.

Winter Wheat Condition.

Winter wheat, three-fourths of normal crop, indicates 12 1/2 bushels per acre at thresher. The crop improved during June due to favorable weather for filling. Most sections report heads of good length with well filled berry. The quality is much above last year. Crop all cut and threshing and the harvest is more prevalent than in recent years. Rugs now are moving to corn. Harvest prospects indicate a yield of 31-480,000 bushels against 37,499,000 in 1919. Reduction is occasioned by a 40-per-cent decrease in acreage. Spring wheat, 74 per cent normal, indicating 11.3 bushels per acre, suffered somewhat from dry weather. The amount of last year's wheat crop on Missouri farms is 5 1/2 per cent, or 3,184,000 bushels.

Oats prospect is 28.6 bushels per acre, which indicates a State yield of 40,526,000 bushels against 38,259,000 bushels last year. This is the fourth consecutive good crop in Missouri, resulting from a large acreage and good average yields per acre. Early sown oats are well filled, late seedlings are short and poor, and considerable acreage is too short to harvest as grain in many localities.

Missouri hay prospects of 22 per cent, indicating a yield of 1.13 tons per acre, is slightly less than last year, owing to dry weather of June cutting the prospects of timothy, the base of most meadows. Clover, best for several years, 94 per cent. Alfalfa is good, condition 92 per cent.

Forage, Pastures, Gardens.

For other forage crops: Millet is 77 per cent of normal; grain sorghums 86 per cent; field peas 84 per cent; sudan grass, planted more liberally than for several years because of the prospective shortage in the seed crops, is only fair. Baling wire is very scarce.

Pastures 87 per cent of normal, best in the northern third and west sections, poorest in east and south central section. Grazing short, in some sections abundance of pasture in best blue grass regions. Stripping of blue grass seed was about 89 per cent of normal.

Farm fruits were injured somewhat by the June drought, especially blackberries and raspberries in northern section; good crop in southern section, having escaped the dry weather. Apples now indicate 64 per cent of crop, suffering heavy drop during June. Same is true of peaches and half crop, confined largely to northern half of State where orchards are poorest. June drop severe, trees badly affected with leaf curl; grapes 75 per cent, pears 50 per cent, blackberries and raspberries 85 per cent.

FIRST HEARING ON PROPOSED GAS RATE INCREASE TUESDAY

City Will Ask for Continuance, to Give Time to Prepare Opposition to Request.

The first hearing of the Public Service Commission on the recent application of the Laclede Gas Light Co. to increase its charge for gas to household consumers from 85 cents to $1 per 1000 feet will be held in Jefferson City Tuesday. The company bases its application on the increased price of coal and fuel oil.

First Associate City Counselor Hamilton said today that the city would ask for a continuance, after the company has stated its case, for time in which to examine the company's exhibits critically with a view to opposing the increase.

Last June, when the commission allowed the Laclede company an increase in its rates, it ordered the company to prepare an inventory of its plant, none being of record with the commission. The company's allotted nine months in which to prepare that inventory expired July 1, but an extension was obtained. The valuation is being made by J. E. Allison, formerly engineer of the St. Louis Public Service Commission.

13 PERSONS INJURED IN MOTOR ACCIDENTS

Widow Suffers Fractured Skull
When Hit by Auto at Nebraska and Lafayette.

Thirteen persons were injured last night in motor vehicle accidents.

Mrs. Henrietta Brennan, 48 years old, of 2911 Lafayette avenue, a widow, was hit by an automobile driven by Albert Kretschmer Jr., 23, of 3908 G. St. street, St. Louis County, when she stepped into the street to board a Fourth street car at Nebraska and Lafayette avenues. She suffered a fracture of the skull and was taken to the Jewish Hospital.

Kretschmer said he was driving east on the south side of Lafayette avenue, ahead of the street car, and that when he saw Mrs. Brennan step into the street he sounded his horn, believing that she would stop. Instead, he said, she ran in front of the automobile.

Mrs. Gertrude Weisels, 39, of 1517 North Fourteenth street, in crossing the street in front of 1115 North Seventh street, was knocked down by an automobile driven by Frank Wakeman, 4624A Kennerly avenue, a mechanic. Her skull was fractured.

Moving Van Hits Street Car.
An automobile moving van, driven by Albert Lantz, 39, of 1419 Francis street, was overturned in a collision with a Lee avenue car at the entrance to an alley on Twentieth street, between Mallinckrodt and Salisbury streets. Lantz suffered internal injuries and a fractured knee.

Three women and two men were injured when an automobile driven by Edward P. Jones, 4161 North Grand avenue, ran into the rear of an automobile parked in front of 1009 Loughborough avenue. Jones' car was upset and he and four other occupants were thrown out. Mrs. Kate Harmon, 1040 Carroll street; Mrs. Fannie Heller, 2305 Salena street, and Mrs. Mattie Deer, 3904 Park avenue, were cut about the face. Jones suffered a scalp wound and Charles Deer, husband of Mrs. Deer, suffered an injury of the back. Erwin Voepel, 2211 Alberta street, and Miss Elsie Hahn, 3936 Michigan avenue, who were sitting in the parked automobile, were not hurt.

Woman and Children Cut.
Mrs. Fred Jones, 1827 Madison street, and her two children, Adeline, 5, and Dorothy, 3, were cut and bruised when an automobile driven by her husband, was overturned in a collision with an automobile driven by Edwin Crap, 3942 Enright avenue, at Arlington and Ashland avenues.

Lola Blackman, 15, a negro, of 2727 Lawton avenue, suffered a fractured skull when hit by an automobile driven by William E. Hoffman of Webster Groves, at Ewing and Lawton avenues.

Mrs. Susan Neall, 55, a negro, of 1313 Gay street, when crossing the street in front of 1313 Morgan street, was knocked down by a motor cycle driven by Theodore Jackson, 18, of 1601 Clark avenue. Her right thigh was fractured.

Capt. Pursell, River Pilot, Dies.

By the Associated Press.

CINCINNATI, O., July 13.—Capt. Francis Marion Pursell, 72 years old, widely known river pilot, is dead at his home here.

Capt. Pursell was engaged with his father during the Civil War in transporting goods between Cincinnati and New Orleans. He retired five years ago.

The August Sale of Furniture

Beginning Monday, July 19
Is Preceded by Three Days of Courtesy

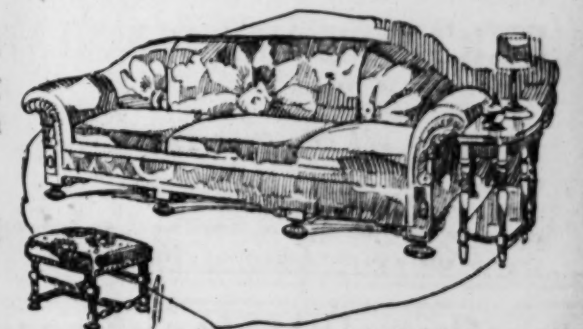

IT is not a simple matter, in these days when the output of furniture factories rarely equals the demand, to assemble the broad and attractive lines regularly offered our patrons. And to do more than this, to effect a sale demanding a great and varied supply of such furniture at special prices, might easily seem a stupendous task. However, we were loathe to deviate from our regular program, thus disappointing many people who were confidently awaiting the splendid buying opportunities past experiences have taught them to expect in our furniture sales. But forethought and effort, spreading over a period of months, brought their reward in a splendid supply, and we now enthusiastically announce our August Sale of Furniture.

Furniture of all sorts and for all uses we have on display. The dignified period furniture, frivolous little painted sets, wicker furniture, separate pieces—all things one could possibly desire to make home more livable and more beautiful, are for sale at special prices.

If you have kept in touch with the steady increase in furniture prices during the past months, you will readily recognize the very generous reductions in effect from the regulation prices. All discretion points to immediate purchase at these economic prices.

The sale proper begins Monday, July 19. However, three days of courtesy, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, July 14, 15, 16, will be extended. During these days, selections of furniture may be made at August Sale prices, with the understanding that delivery will be made after the sale begins.

Every day of the sale will present its interesting features, detailed accounts appearing in later publications.

YOU CAN BE SAFE AT 7 PER CENT

Don't buy too high a rate on your income investments.

The period of easy profiteering is passing. All lines of business will shortly have to get down to hard pan.

Especially if you are investing your SAVINGS, put safety first. Invest where you KNOW you will get the promised income REGULARLY, and where your principal will be safe against loss.

Seven per cent that you can depend on getting regularly will give you more COMFORT—and in the long run more INCOME—than a higher rate that may be earned in good years but not in bad.

Union Electric 7 per cent preferred stock is, in our judgment, the safest 7-per-cent security now on sale in Missouri.

If your idea is to speculate—to take high risks for a possible high income rate—this stock won't interest you.

But if you want a regular, dependable cash income of $7 a year, paid in quarterly installments, on each $100 invested, Union Electric preferred will satisfy you.

PRICE: $100 a share for cash; $102 on a 10-payment plan, under which buyers draw 5 per cent interest on installment payments, and can withdraw all payments, WITH INTEREST, any time before the final installment is paid.

SALES OFFICES: Room 201 Union Electric Building, Twelfth and Locust streets, St. Louis, and Union Electric's offices in Franklin, Jefferson, Perry, St. Charles and St. Louis Counties.

MAIL ORDERS: Bank draft, certified check, postoffice or express money order should be sent with mail orders. PROMPT DELIVERY OF SHARES WILL BE MADE BY REGISTERED MAIL.

RICHARD CROKER WINS OVER SON IN SUIT

Millionaire and Former Tammany Hall Chief Adjudged Competent to Handle Estate.

By the Associated Press.
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., July 13.—Richard Croker, former chief of Tammany Hall, was adjudged mentally competent to handle his affairs yesterday by Judge E. B. Donnell, who dissolved a temporary injunction granted last March to Howard Croker, son of the former New York Democratic leader. The son had sought to have his father and stepmother, Buella A. Croker, barred from disposing of the elder Croker's property, estimated at $1,000,000 and said that his father was not mentally fit to administer his affairs and was unduly influenced by Mrs. Croker. The Croker declined to discuss the case last night. The former Tammany chief said he and Mrs. Croker would leave for New York Tuesday and would sail Saturday for Ireland, the trip abroad having been delayed by the court proceeding.

Croker Children to Appeal From Decision of Florida Court.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, July 13.—Counsel for Richard Croker Jr. here announced last night that he had wired his legal representatives in Jacksonville to appeal from the decision of the Florida court which yesterday adjudged Richard Croker Sr., mentally competent to handle his affairs. He also stated that this request from an appeal was only the beginning of the legal fight to be waged by the Croker children in an effort to prevent their father from disposing of his $1,000,000 Florida estate, on the grounds that he is not mentally fit to care for his affairs and is being unduly influenced by his wife.

MAN FOUND IN NEW AUTO WITH NO LICENSE ARRESTED

Police Find His Old Car, Which He Said He Was on His Way to Tow Home, Stalled in Levee.

Ernest Miller, 28 years old, of 1414 Warren street, carried on the police records as "alias Bergadine," was arrested at 1 o'clock this morning when policemen found him sitting in a new automobile in front of 1456 North Market street. He said he purchased the car a week ago. Miller said his old automobile was stalled at Levee and Washington avenue, with a party of steamboat excursionists in it, and that he was waiting for a rope to tow the other car home.

The police took Miller and another man, who was seen carrying a coil of rope from an alley, to the North Market street station. Miller's stalled car, occupied by several men and women, was found where Miller said it had been left by him. The police, however, decided to hold Miller because he had no city license, on his new car.

"SOLDIER" UNABLE TO DRILL

Detectives Trap Man Who Was Wearing U. S. Uniform.

Ignorance of drill regulations led to the downfall of Harry Bryant, 36 years old, whom detectives found at Sixth and Walnut streets yesterday attired in the full uniform and insignia of a soldier.

The detectives had stopped Bryant when they noticed the ill-fitting coat. When he claimed to be from a Jefferson Barracks, they gave him a few commands from the army manual. The clumsy fashion in which Bryant attempted to execute the movement led the policemen to take him to Central Station, where he admitted he never had been a soldier. He said he had bought the outfit at Marion, Ind., for $6 and wore it because he thought it would be easier to get work that way. He was held for the United States authorities.

GOOD SAMARITAN FIRED ON

Man Who Tried to Help Autoist Target for Three Shots.

Fred Hertling, 339 Pierce Building, told the police last night he had been shot at three times earlier in the evening when he attempted to assist a youth who he believed was in trouble with his automobile in St. Louis County.

He said he was driving his machine south of the city limits when he noticed a youth and a girl in an automobile at the side of the road. The machine, he said, was apparently stalled and he stopped his auto and got out to help the youth get the machine started. As he approached, he said, the youth drew a revolver and fired at him three times, started his machine and drove north at high speed. Hertling attempted to follow the youth, but the latter turned into a side road.

PEACE DISTURBER FINED $50

Fought When Clerks Seized Him After He Picked Up Candy.

Claude Breedlove, 556 North Twenty-third street, East St. Louis, was fined $50 in Police Court today on a charge of having disturbed the peace of Cecil Cox, 18 years old, a clerk in the Woolworth store at Broadway and Washington avenue. Cox and other clerks at the store testified that Breedlove had been in the store for some time and that yesterday they saw him pick up some candy from a counter. He was seized, but fought loose, hitting Cox during the melee. He ran out on a side escape, but was caught and turned over to a policeman.

SWITCHMAN SHOT WHEN AT HIS WORK

Madison Authorities Investigating Attack on George Dixon by Three Men Sunday.

George Dixon, 18 years old, a Clover Leaf switchman, is in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Granite City, with a bullet at the base of the brain and a wound in his right thigh, as the result of an attack made on him Sunday afternoon by three men when he was at work in the railroad yards at East Madison.

Switchmen in these yards, as in other railroad centers, have been on an "outlaw" strike since April 8. Dixon, whose home is in Crawfordsville, Ind., was employed after the switchmen walked out. Madison County authorities are making an investigation to learn whether the shooting was done by persons in sympathy with the strikers.

The Madison organization of insurgent switchmen is said to be aiding in the investigation.

The shooting occurred near the Illinois Central depot. No eyewitnesses have been found, but several persons have said they heard shots and saw three men running away. At the hospital today Dixon said he had finished his work and was walking through the railroad yards when three men confronted him. One of them tried to strike him with a "billy," he said, and he turned and ran and heard shots behind him. He remembers feeling a bullet strike his head but cannot remember being shot in the thigh. It is not certain that the wound in the thigh was made by a bullet. Dixon thinks it may have been caused by something on which he fell.

WOOD INDORSES NOMINEES OF REPUBLICANS CONDITIONALLY

General Says He Does So With Understanding Progressives Will Take Part in Campaign.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, July 13.—Major-General Wood, in a statement yesterday, declared that he heartily indorsed the nominees of the Republican party, "understanding that the progressive elements of the party are to be brought into the campaign and given full representation and participation."

"The party can win through united effort and such clear explanation of program as will bring the larger independent vote to its active support," the statement said.
Gen. Wood, who conferred with Senator Harding at Marion, O., last week, defined what he considered necessary points in a "progressive policy," and declared that the party could not win by destructive criticism.

"The party's policy must be clean-cut, forward-looking and constructive," the statement said, "one which, while recognizing America's responsibilities as the leading nation of the world, will guarantee her freedom from foreign control and class domination; one which will safeguard our traditional policies at home and abroad; one which will complete the enfranchisement of women; which will stand against all forces and influences tending to break down morality, the physical well being or the solidarity of our people."

$100,000 TO BE RAISED FOR WORK FOR ROAD BOND ISSUE

Good Roads Federation to Spend $30,000 of Fund on Publicity and Truck Tour.

Representatives of the Missouri Good Roads Federation, meeting here yesterday, decided to raise $100,000 to be expended throughout the State on work for the $40,000,000 good roads bond issue proposition, which will be voted upon in November.

About $30,000 of the $100,000 fund will be spent on publicity and a truck tour through Missouri and about $20,000 in advertising. St. Louis, which is raising its own fund of $75,000, will turn over $30,000 of this to the State fund and Kansas City, which is raising $50,000, will give $15,000 for State purposes.

A convention of good roads workers will be held in St. Louis, probably the latter part of August. About 1400 are expected to attend.
Raymond A. Walsh, secretary of the standing committees, gave an outline of the boosting campaign to the members yesterday, who included delegates from every congressional district in the State. Harry B. Hawes presided at the morning session and W. Frank Carter in the afternoon.

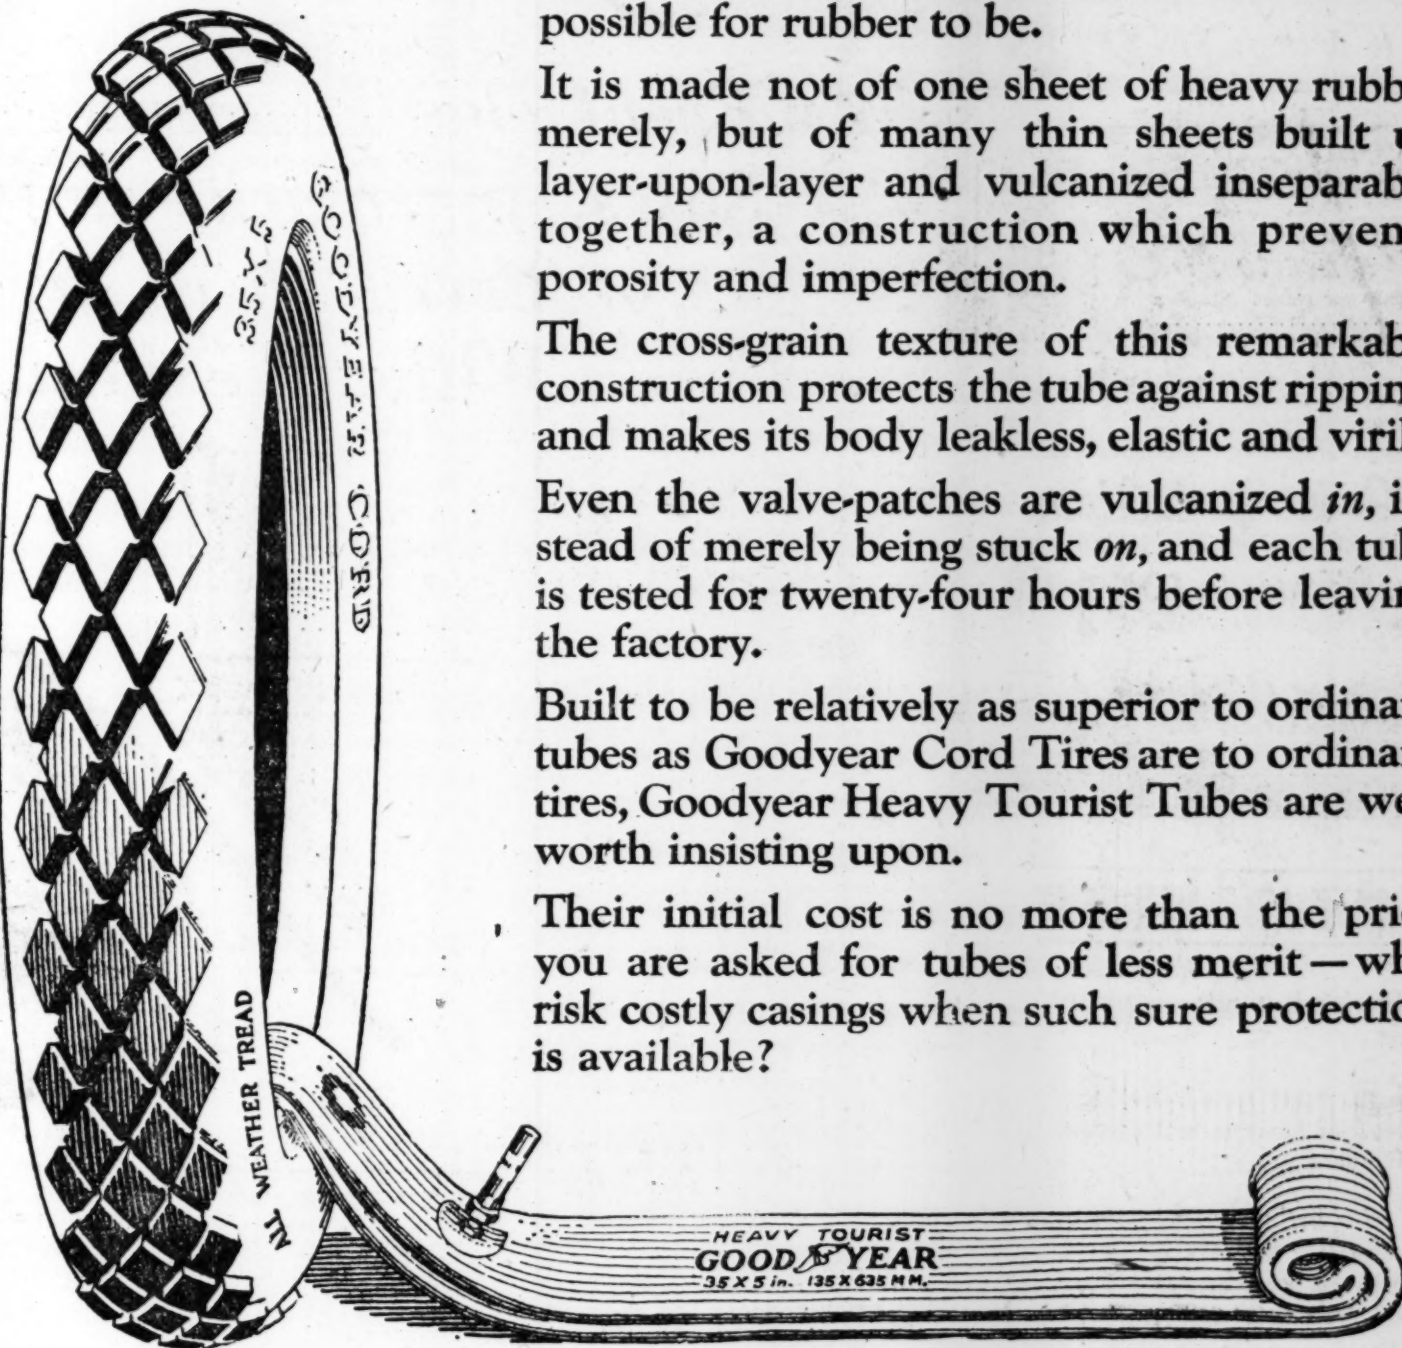

BOLIVIAN GOVERNMENT FALLS; PRESIDENT IS MADE PRISONER

Sacerda Assumes Power After Revolution Is Supported by the Army.

By the Associated Press.
LIMA, Peru, July 13.—A revolution has broken out in Bolivia, according to dispatches received late today yesterday from La Paz. The Government headed by President Jose Gutierrez Guerra has been overthrown, and the President and members of his Cabinet have been made prisoners.

Jautista Sacerda has assumed power, being supported by the army, and is said to have appointed Jose Carrasco, former Bolivian Minister to Brazil, Chancellor.
Newspapers here, in commenting on the news, say the revolution is a "crushing defeat of the pro-Chilean policy pursued by the Bolivian Government, and vindicates the community of interest existing between Peru and Bolivia."

Tubes that are Worth Insisting Upon

GOODYEAR HEAVY TOURIST TUBES

The wall of the Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tube is thick, powerful and densely knit—as nearly absolutely impervious to air as it is possible for rubber to be.

It is made not of one sheet of heavy rubber merely, but of many thin sheets built up layer-upon-layer and vulcanized inseparably together, a construction which prevents porosity and imperfection.

The cross-grain texture of this remarkable construction protects the tube against ripping, and makes its body leakless, elastic and virile.

Even the valve-patches are vulcanized in, instead of merely being stuck on, and each tube is tested for twenty-four hours before leaving the factory.

Built to be relatively as superior to ordinary tubes as Goodyear Cord Tires are to ordinary tires, Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tubes are well worth insisting upon.

Their initial cost is no more than the price you are asked for tubes of less merit—why risk costly casings when such sure protection is available?

Be Careful What You Wash Your Hair With

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.
The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.
Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in; about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.

An Event That Promises to Far Surpass All Our Previous Furniture Sales, Inasmuch, as It Offers UNRESTRICTED CHOICE of Every Piece of Furniture in Our Superb Stock, Without Exception or Restriction, at Exactly

1/4 off

THE ORIGINALLY AND FAIRLY MARKED PRICES

Bigger in every way is this year's August Furniture Sale. We've resorted to extraordinary efforts to make it so. The largest stocks we've ever assembled are ready for choosing now. The recent freight embargoes diverted from the East many shipments of furniture contracted for months ago, and heavy, profitably purchased shipments, recently received, will greatly augment our stocks for this—the biggest furniture event of the year. Knowing the high value-giving expectations St. Louisans have in our furniture sales, and eager to more than fulfill these expectations—in addition to sharing the benefits of our purchases, we are sacrificing a goodly portion of our just profits and entailing some losses in offering you a clear saving of one-fourth on every piece of furniture in our stock.

This is indeed an occasion of more than city-wide importance. Home furnishers within a radius of many miles are invited to participate in these surpassing furniture values. The immense stocks assure all a selection that will gain the admiration of the most adept connoisseurs of good furniture. Every room in every home can be furnished with these individual pieces or suites. Furniture for living rooms, dining rooms, bedrooms, sun parlors, sleeping porches, guest rooms and kitchens. Furniture in artistic period and conventional designs, substantially constructed and worthy of a place in any household. Furniture built by America's most reliable manufacturers.

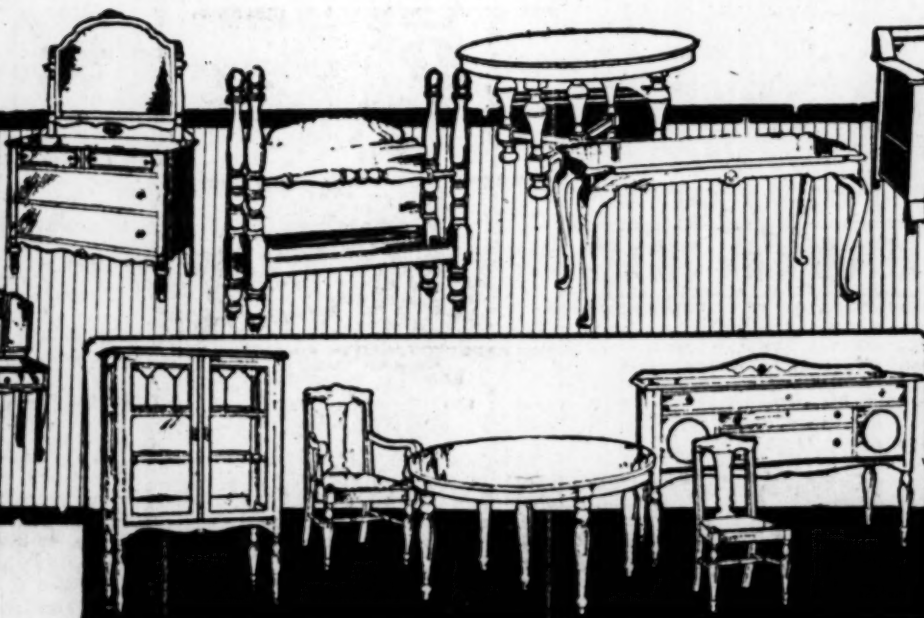

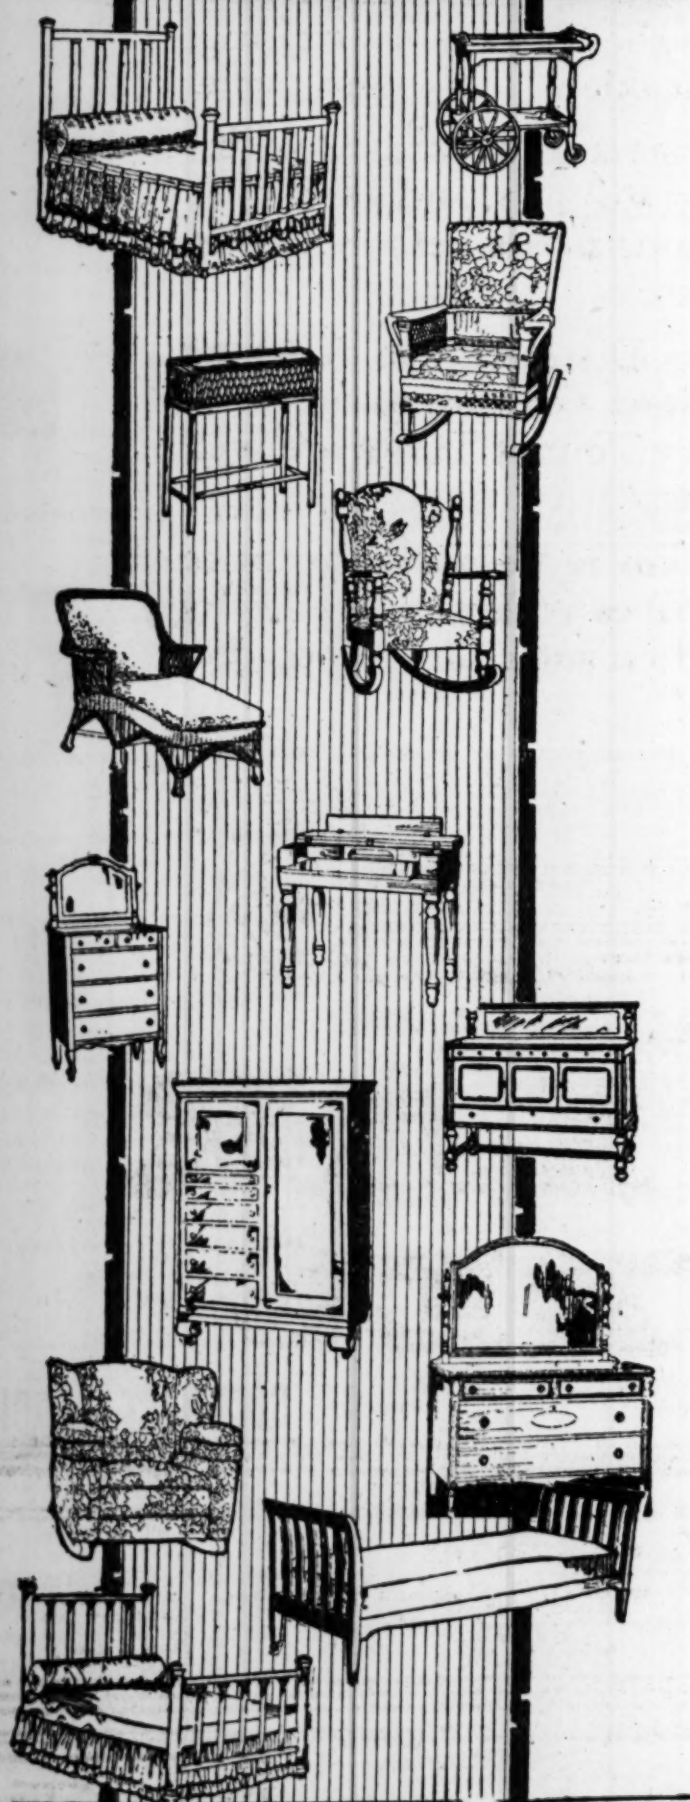

Deferred Payments

Anyone wishing to take advantage of our liberal deferred payment plan may do so by making arrangements with our Department of Accounts.

A Small Deposit

made at time of selection will entitle the purchaser to the privilege of having Furniture reserved for a limited time.

Arrangements have been perfected to take care of what we expect to be the largest gathering of Furniture buyers that have ever visited this store. Our own highly competent salesforce has been supplemented with additional salespeople.

WATCHMAN SHOT BY NEGRO WHILE MAKING HIS ROUNDS

Frank Crame of East St. Louis Is In Serious Condition Following Attack.

Frank Crame, 55 years old, 1507 St. Louis, was shot by a negro, night watchman at the plant of the O'Neil-Nester Glass Co., Twentieth street and Broadway, was shot through the left side, just below the heart, by one of two negroes when he was making his rounds at 10:30 o'clock last night. He was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in a serious condition.

Police, attracted by the shot, arrested John Young, 21, a negro, of 2100 Missouri avenue, who they found in the rear of the plant. Crame identified him as a negro he arrested a year ago.

William Wolfe, 20 years old, a negro, of 2113 Kansas street, East St. Louis, was found at St. Mary's Hospital a short time after the shooting suffering from a bullet wound in the right wrist. Crame told the police that he fired two shots at the negroes as they fled from the plant after having shot him. Wolfe and Young are held for investigation.

FRANK H. FARRIS FOR GOVERNOR

At a meeting of representative Democrats of fifty-one counties held in St. Louis, July 12, in the interest of Frank H. Farris for Governor, the following resolution was adopted:

We Your Committee, beg leave to report as follows: We submit for the consideration of the voters of the State of Missouri on behalf of the Candidacy of Honorable Frank H. Farris for the Democratic nomination for Governor, the following:

Senator Farris is a native born Missourian, in the prime of manhood, with more than twenty years' experience in legislation and the affairs of this State, and is better acquainted with the needs and institutions of the State than any other man in it, and therefore better qualified to be its Governor.

His active, efficient and loyal service for the Democratic Party throughout his entire life entitles his candidacy to the favorable consideration of every loyal Democrat.

He is a brilliant campaigner, than whom there is none more able or aggressive in the State, and his name at the head of the ticket, his talent and ability would strengthen the entire ticket.

He comes from a section of the State which has not been represented in the Gubernatorial Chair since the days of the Honored John S. Phelps, and which, we believe, is entitled to consideration.

His Candidacy has a strong general support throughout the entire State as is evidenced by the number of his friends and supporters in attendance at this meeting whose names are attached hereto and who, each and all, came voluntarily on his own personal account and who bespeak for Senator Farris the support of their respective friends throughout the State, believing that he will be nominated, and when nominated, elected by an increased majority.

Among the well-known Democrats present were the following:

Hon. Robert Lamm, Texas County. Hon. Philip McCollum, Buchanan County.
Hon. John D. Tolson, Jr., Howard County. F. J. O'Neill, St. Louis City.

Five Municipal Swimming Marks Broken in Meet Fairground Team Wins Competition at Marquette Pool With 54 Points.

The Fairground team gained first honors in the seventh annual Municipal Athletic Association swim meet at the Marquette pool last night, with 54 points. Marquette with 35 finished second, and Central Y. M. C. A. with 26, third.

A crowd of more than 5,000 persons witnessed the events and saw first-class swimming. The outstanding feature was the 100-yard dash victory of Miss Grace Stewart, who completed the distance in one minute, 20 seconds. This is four seconds faster than the old mark.

Another record-breaking performance was made by Francis Stephens of the Missouri Athletic Association. Stephens won the 100-yard dash in one minute, which takes one second off of Lee Bowden's mark made in 1918.

The results follow:
CLASS AA—25-YARD DASH (age limit not over 10 years, weight 80 pounds). First, William Farrell, Fairground pool; second, Phil Walz, Levee; third, John Mehan, Marquette; fourth, A. Best, Marquette. Time—1:15.

CLASS A—25-YARD DASH (age limit not over 15 years, weight 100 pounds). First, C. Arnold, Marquette pool; second, M. Best, Marquette pool; third, J. Baker, Marquette pool; fourth, A. Brown, Levee. Time—1:45.

CLASS B—25-YARD DASH (age limit not over 15 years, weight 100 pounds). First, C. Arnold, Marquette pool; second, M. Best, Marquette pool; third, J. Baker, Marquette pool; fourth, A. Brown, Levee. Time—1:45.

CLASS C—25-YARD DASH (age limit not over 15 years, weight 100 pounds). First, C. Arnold, Marquette pool; second, M. Best, Marquette pool; third, J. Baker, Marquette pool; fourth, A. Brown, Levee. Time—1:45.

CLASS D—25-YARD DASH (age limit not over 15 years, weight 100 pounds). First, C. Arnold, Marquette pool; second, M. Best, Marquette pool; third, J. Baker, Marquette pool; fourth, A. Brown, Levee. Time—1:45.

CLASS E—25-YARD DASH (age limit not over 15 years, weight 100 pounds). First, C. Arnold, Marquette pool; second, M. Best, Marquette pool; third, J. Baker, Marquette pool; fourth, A. Brown, Levee. Time—1:45.

CLASS F—25-YARD DASH (age limit not over 15 years, weight 100 pounds). First, C. Arnold, Marquette pool; second, M. Best, Marquette pool; third, J. Baker, Marquette pool; fourth, A. Brown, Levee. Time—1:45.

CLASS G—25-YARD DASH (age limit not over 15 years, weight 100 pounds). First, C. Arnold, Marquette pool; second, M. Best, Marquette pool; third, J. Baker, Marquette pool; fourth, A. Brown, Levee. Time—1:45.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

The Carpenter's Strike.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Will you please print this in your "Letters to the People" column. In regard to the situation of the carpenters' strike, I just read an article in your paper where the master builders were taking steps to influence the independent contractors to stop paying the new scale. As far as Mayor Kiel paying the scale, it is not paid from the taxes that the master builders are paying, for the majority of them have homes in the county, where they do not have to pay city taxes. It comes more from the poor workmen who live in the city than from them. As for independent contractors, they realize what the cost of living is and they know a man cannot keep his family in a respectable way on what he is getting. The master builders claim that by not paying the carpenter the same as other trades are getting that it will bring down the high cost of living.

As for myself, I am just existing on the wages I am getting. The time is here when every penny of a workman's money counts, to prepare for winter. They tell you "why didn't you save your money?" Yes, we could if we had gone without sufficient food and no new clothes to wear. We deny ourselves lots of things and still have nothing. I wish to thank the few of the master builders and Mr. Sutlage that took the stand for the carpenters.

A CARPENTER.

Kansas Harvest Wages.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
You advertised in your columns the high salaries that were being paid in the Kansas wheat fields. Please advertise now the poverty and sorrow of men and boys who spent their last dollar to get to the Kansas wheat fields and the $7 a day wages, and when they get there could not get a job at any wage.

ONE WHO WENT.

Prosecute the Sloop.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The protest of a resident of the western portion of the city in reference to rubbish, etc., being thrown in public alleys and streets should be noted and those guilty prosecuted.

The north end of the city is in the same fix. Mr. Somebody cuts his grass and cleans up his yard, then throws the rubbish in the street or alley to decay or dry up and blow all over the neighborhood. Broken bottles and other rubbish are added from time to time until the streets and alleys resemble a dump.

After a while someone makes a complaint through the Police Department and then the city will clean up, thus encouraging the practice, when one or two prosecutions would remedy the matter in any locality for a long time.

Blaming it on children and ignorance of the ordinance should not be tolerated as an excuse when rubbish is found adjacent to a residence.

Broken glass is specially mentioned in the traffic regulations and continually violated. Yours,

B. NEAT.

The Stamp That Didn't Stick.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I recently mailed a letter which was returned to me the next day, marked "Returned for postage." There was no stamp on the envelope as returned to me, but it was plain that a stamp had been used. Enough of the mucilage remained to show that. As it happened, it was not a very important letter. But suppose it had been, and suppose the writer had left town before it had been returned. Many unpleasant consequences could happen, through nobody's fault except the Postal Department, which, presumably, is using an inferior quality of mucilage to the end that Burison may swell his fictitious surplus. It is high time for the press of this country to go to the mat with Burison.

S. S.

Selection of Summer Opera.

Someone connected with the management of the Municipal Opera has stated that they are giving the people the kind of entertainment they want. Well, if the management thinks that the vulgar comedy of the "Waltz Dream" and the insane, silly game of the "Masochists" are what the people want, it certainly has failed to get a correct estimate of the mental caliber of the patrons of the opera. How any sane man could select either of these abortions is beyond comprehension.

If the management wishes to get a real line on the musical and histrionic taste of the people let them put on one or two weeks of standard grand opera with a cast capable of giving a worthy presentation, in addition to the first-class light opera like the "Mikado," and I will wager two potatoes that they will have a record attendance, and incidentally, the education of the management will be brought up to the minute to the extent that they will learn what is the real taste of St. Louis opera patrons.

Let us prepare at once for a better program next year.

JANE.

GOV. CLEMENT HITS THE NAIL.

We sympathize heartily with the effort of the women to have the equal suffrage amendment ratified by 36 states in time to enable the women in all the states to vote in the November elections. As a matter of principle we hold that the right of suffrage should be exercised by the women. But we approve the stand of Gov. Clement of Vermont in refusing to call the State Legislature in session to ratify the amendment until the people of the State, who have been deprived of the right of referendum on Federal constitutional amendments by the decision of the United States Supreme Court, shall have the opportunity to vote on the question in an election.

The nineteenth amendment is in a far better position with regard to the denial of a popular referendum than the eighteenth, because it recognizes and establishes a right of equality in suffrage, whereas the eighteenth amendment annuls a reserved right of the states, invades local self-government and restricts personal liberty. We reprint the two closing paragraphs of Gov. Clement's proclamation because they embody a forceful statement of the dangerous situation in which the people of the states have been placed by the court's decision and a warning of the consequences which should be deeply impressed upon the mind of every American. The Governor says:

If the people of Vermont, in accepting a place in the union of states, inadvertently lost in whole or in part the right of self-government and conferred it on a Legislature, there is all the more reason why a Legislature should not pass upon a question which has arisen since their election and upon which their constituents have had no opportunity to express themselves.

We must now either remodel our Constitution to conform with the mandate of the Supreme Court of the United States, or the Constitution of the United States must be amended to provide for a referendum to the free men of the several states before the amendments to that Constitution become effective. As it stands and is interpreted by the Supreme Court today, the Federal Constitution threatens the foundation of free popular government.

If the Governors and Legislatures of the States, refusing to be terrorized and dragged by the Anti-Saloon League and its lobbyists, had followed this sound principle and rule, the eighteenth amendment probably would not have been ratified; but if it had, it would have been ratified with the approval of a majority of the people of the separate states and there would not now be a widespread revolt against it because it was ratified without the consent or approval of the people.

Gov. Clement points the way to the safeguarding of the rights and liberties of the people. He suggests an amendment to the Federal Constitution providing for a popular referendum on amendments, in accord with the democratic principle and the spirit of the times. The people of the states might protect themselves by amendments to state constitutions forbidding state legislatures to ratify Federal constitutional amendments without a previous election or special referendum. While the Missouri Legislature deliberately ignored a provision of our State Constitution forbidding in general terms the ratification of amendments nullifying any of the rights of the State, we assume it would not have dared to defy a specific provision for a popular vote. The state constitutions would be blinding on the state legislatures.

The people themselves must safeguard "the foundation of free, popular government," which, as Gov. Clement justly declares, is threatened by the Federal Constitution as interpreted by the Supreme Court. Not the safety nor the sovereignty of the people, but two-thirds of Congress and three-fourths of the state legislatures are supreme.

EMPRESS EUGENIE.

As the sole survivor, romantically, of the Second Empire, Empress Eugenie for years has been the saddest figure in Europe. Notwithstanding the public attitude of deference and sympathy, life for her was "an empty theater, the lights extinguished, the music ended and the actors gone." But what may have seemed a satirically prolonged allotment of years was finally vindicated. Eugenie lived to see the fulfillment of her daily prayer—the humiliation of the Prussian military power that ended the career of Louis Napoleon, wrote fits to imperial pomp and circumstance in France and ushered in the republic. She lived, too, to see history expose the myth that she was responsible for the Franco-Prussian War. Expediency required Bismarck to shift the blame to Paris, which he easily did. Later the Iron Chancellor bluntly confessed that "during the time I was in office I advised three wars," an acknowledgement sufficient to absolve the weakling, Louis, and his Empress, had the Emu forgery never been disclosed. With the need of deception passed, Bismarck told the truth.

Eugenie lived, too, to see England repent of her neutrality of 1870 and to pay for that lost opportunity for intervention in dreadful terms of blood and treasure. That neutrality is easily understood now. Bismarck had molded English thought as near to his heart's desire as he had manipulated French diplomacy. "Germany ought to be President of Europe—Queen of the continent," growled Carlyle. Ruskin could see in France only "vanity, lust and lying."

The lyric, the epic, the tragic were all woven into the 94 years of the life of the Spanish girl whose beauty and wit won a brief tenure of a throne. She died, it may be assumed, convinced that she had not been cheated entirely of her destiny. Renan wished only to live to see what would happen to William II, and the same wish might have been Bismarck's dying whisper.

Eugenie lived to see it.

POLITICAL BALANCE OF POWER.

In an interview in the Post-Dispatch Sunday Gov. Cox told how he was beaten in 1914. The Anti-Saloon League turned the trick. It sent one of its high officers to Cincinnati who made a deal with the Hamilton County Republican machine to throw the dry vote for the Republican county ticket, provided the Republican wet votes were cast against Cox. The agreement was carried out, and the Anti-Saloon League added Cox's scalp to the large collection already dangling from its belt.

The Cincinnati incident is interesting as the personal testimonial of a presidential candidate, but it cannot be regarded as a disclosure of the Anti-Saloon League's political methods. That organization, through an accredited spokesman, long ago told how it did things. When the resolution submitting the eighteenth amendment had been adopted the League went into details of how it had card-indexed Congress and pulled every wire to make Congressmen vote right.

The thoroughness of the work was Prussian. First, there was the lobby at Washington. But when the Congressman refused to surrender to that barrage of eloquence or importunity missionaries were sent to his home district to find his vulnerable points. Did the statesman have some friend in whose judgment he had unusual confidence and upon whose advice he leaned? If such a friend were not dry he was converted as soon as possible and given no peace until he had won over the statesman. Again, the refractory Congressman's financial affairs were investigated and if, as sometimes happened, he was in debt, the pack was turned loose on the banker who was carrying the law maker. There's many a brand of Achilles' heel in politics—friendships, finance, social ambition of Mrs. Politician. Wherever an opening was found the league concentrated its attack, with the result that many members of Congress were terrorized into complying with this organization's demands. All this the league has told itself.

But the difference between Gov. Cox and the majority of our Congressmen is that he refused to be bullied by the Anti-Saloon League and also refused to be beaten by it. He asserted his independence and fought the league and whipped it on its native heath. The conclusion he has drawn from his experience is this: "There is one thing which we have to begin attending to: That is conniving and terrorizing groups which make the balance of power and control elections." It is a moral which must make many members of Congress blush with shame for timidly yielding to the Anti-Saloon League and wonder, perhaps, as to what exorbitant prices of humiliation they will have to pay in the future to hold their jobs.

If he carries out all his plans for running it, the office of President of the United States should not interfere at all with Mr. Harding's golf game.

WINDING UP A POLITICAL PARTY.

The Prohibition party will hold its national convention at Lincoln, Neb., July 21, and consider whether, the eighteenth amendment having been adopted since its last gathering, it is worth while to continue its organization longer as a party.

It originated about the time of the so-called "Liquor crusade" that began in Ohio, and whose chief feature was the invasion of saloons by devout women to hold prayer meetings. Its first national ticket appeared on the ballot in 1872, under the name Temperance party, its nominee for President being James Black of Pennsylvania, and for Vice President the Rev. John Russell of Michigan, called by some the father of the party. It then polled 5608 votes and four years later appeared as the Prohibition party, a name never absent since from the election returns, and its vote rose to 9522. Its 10 nominees under the present name have been Green Clay Smith of Kentucky, Neal Dow of Maine, John P. St. John of Kansas, Clinton P. Fisk of New Jersey, John Bidwell of California, Joshua Levering of Maryland, John F. Woolley of Illinois, Sila G. Swallow of Pennsylvania, Eugene W. Claffin of Arizona, who was nominated twice, and J. Frank Hanley of Indiana. Its greatest vote was polled in 1892—264,133—which four years ago had fallen to 221,529.

When it began the liquor power was dominant, the saloon almost unregulated, the evils of intoxicants omnipresent. After 45 years it sees America converted into an arid zone through the action of the great parties. The Prohibition party's force was chiefly a moral force. With a political organization it was a political force only in exceptional times and places—when by drawing to itself voters in close areas it compelled the older parties to act. With the beginning of local option 25 years ago its decline started, and the time has now come to wind up its affairs.

"It seems inevitable that there should disappear from this country most of the things which attracted us to it. Naturally, free land, the greatest magnet, was bound to give out. It was also certain that taxes, which trail civilization, would follow us here. However, it is not in these things alone that life in the United States has changed. If we want to get a really comparative view of the matter we have only to read this paragraph from the letters of Herman Steiner, writing from St. Louis in 1884 to relatives in Germany who were about to come to America:

If Professor Dellmann comes with you, he must go to the country with us, and must not try to teach until he has mastered the English language. There will be inconveniences for us all to face, but if you wish to see our whole family living in the same country, a country where freedom of speech obtains, where no spies are eavesdropping, where no wretched simonist critics your every word and seek to detect therein venom that might endanger the life of the State, the church, and the home, in short, if you wish to be really happy and independent then come here and be farmers in the United States. Here you will find a class of beings that think sensibly, and that still respect the man in man. Oppressive military systems and exorbitant taxation are foreign to this country. Nature has blessed this land abundantly. Here one fully enjoys what one earns, here no despots are to be feared, here the law is respected, and honest citizens do not tolerate the least infringement or interference by human authority.

"I wonder how many of us can read this without blushing? I have tried it several times, and I fairly blush through my whiskers every time. The best thing we can do in this country is to get back to our old free selves. We are about to make the greatest mistake we have ever made, and I believe we can recover. It was the war that threw us off the track. We can go back to that point and set ourselves right."

Collecting a fund of $100,000 with which to put the $60,000,000 read bonds over this fall is a good idea, but we must be sure that the kind of streets and roads we have now are working night and day for that good cause. We probably break more springs than any other motoring community in the world, and it will be surprising if there is apathy anywhere in the State when we vote on the proposition to join the Government in making Missouri roads.

The editor of the Rosendale (Mo.) Signal has great confidence in his wife, judging by the following, which he published a few days ago:

FISH FOR SALE.
The Editor's wife went fishing today and we know we will have more fish than we can use this hot weather, so if you want any fish leave your order at the Signal office.

Shoot that way of spelling chute.

The municipal opera is one of the few attempts we have ever made to avail ourselves of a season with much greater possibilities than we suspect. We shall not need to go away for recreation when we know how to recreate in and around St. Louis.

Just so the newspapers belonging to Gov. Cox and Senator Harding don't get to fighting among themselves. We have borne with too much to go through an old-fashioned country newspaper war at this time.

We can't have the wet and dry referendum. There is always some reason why this political fetish is denied us. However, as good liberals we must hold on to it.

Four men have been arrested in New York for stealing $10,000 worth of shoes. At that, they probably got no more than a pair around.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

BASIS OF RUSSIA'S PEACE TERMS.

LEVIN KRAMER, La Populaire, of Paris.
THE Entente tried for two years to crush us. Now the time is come for the capitalist world to make terms with the Soviet Republic. Such terms cannot be discussed except on the basis of equality. Soviet Russia has not been defeated. It cannot fight with other nations except subject to the conditions that the political and social principles upon which its Government is based be recognized by those nations. I see in the capitalist newspapers that the delegates of the capitalist Government now assume the right to impose upon the Soviet Government conditions incompatible with the principles for which the Russian proletariat has been fighting for two years. After failing to crush us by force, they wish now to bribe us to a betrayal of our belief. Soviet Russia is not yet so badly off that it must purchase the resumption of diplomatic and consular relations by such means. It demands first of all that the military attacks upon it cease and that the blockade be raised. We require this not only of the Entente, but likewise of the Governments which are our neighbors, particularly Poland and Finland, who are receiving military and financial support from the Allied Governments. Unless these two conditions are granted, there can be no resumption of commerce between the Soviet Republic and Western Europe.

ORTHODOXY'S DUTY TO HERESY.

GENY FRANK, in the Century.
I BELIEVE that progress depends more upon the protection of orthodoxy. Every step toward step in history had, in the very nature of the case, to begin with an attack upon the existing order. Had effective means for preserving the status quo existed from the dawn of human history, instead of our today living amidst surroundings of culture and safety, we should probably be chasing one another with clubs through the forest and drinking blood from the scraped skulls of our victims, while the head of some primitive Patrick Henry afforded a delectable dish for some embryo censor. All this is the most frayed and weathered platitude, but unless we base our conceptions of liberty and our policies of freedom upon it, it was doomed either to political and social stagnation, on the one hand, or to riotous revolution on the other.

ANGLO-AMERICAN FRICTION.

From the Saturday Review (England).
W HEN an Englishman says of or to an American, or what an American says of or to an Englishman, speeds home at once, because it is perfectly understood. The same language used in a different way by two men, whose manners and habits are not only different but antipodal, is bound to produce one of two results—friction or laughter. If the two men are ill-bred, they will insult one another and separate—if they are soldiers or sailors, they will punch one another's heads. If the two men are well-bred, they will smile and chaff, and grow interested in comparing notes. Americans love publicity; Englishmen are reserved. Quite naturally, and meaning to be friendly, an American begins to cross-examine a traveling Englishman as to where he comes from, where he is going to, what is his business in this what profits he makes, and so on. As naturally the Englishman is annoyed, and it requires a great deal of savoir faire and good temper to parry these interrogatories without giving offense. But the American would only be too pleased to submit to a similar cross-examination by the Englishman. Neither nation understands the other's chaff, and as George Eliot said, a difference of taste is a severe strain on the affection.

WHAT EVERYBODY SAID ... By Lucien Carey

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

WHILE he watched, the girl stepped out of the back door 50 feet away and came toward him. She came on past the well—which was almost exactly halfway between and belonged equally to both houses. For a moment Phil was afraid she was going to pay him a call. But she paused at the woodpile. She chose a stick and laid it on her arm; she laid another stick on top of that, and another and another—cradling the load against her body in quite the approved fashion. When she had got an armful she looked up. She looked directly at Phil. Instinctively he took a quick step away from his window. He didn't want to be caught watching her; she might think he was spying on her.

The girl went directly into her own house. Phil could hear the armful of wood rumble and thump into the woodbox. It was his wood. He had chopped it for exercise—and to keep from thinking. The girl had taken his wood without asking for it. But it was he who felt guilty. He felt guilty because she had caught him watching her while she took his wood. The wood didn't matter; there was more than he could possibly use himself, unless he stayed all winter. But the idea of her taking it after refusing to talk to him struck Phil as ironical; only women were capable of precisely this audacity.

He started a fire in his own kitchen and threw the drafts wide open. He had bought a fresh-caught mackerel at Hanks', and he needed coals on which to broil it. The water bucket was so nearly empty that he had to go to the well. It made him actually self-conscious to walk out into the open space in the pines toward her shack. All the time he had his back turned filling the bucket he felt she was watching him. He looked up quickly at her window, but either she wasn't paying any attention to what he was doing or she was more discreet than he had been. He caught a whiff of frying fish. Evidently she had been to Hanks' also.

Phil ate his simple meal beside the kitchen stove. The presence of the girl 50 feet away, separated by two thin walls, emphasized the solitariness of it. How absurd it was that they—who were both young, both from the same social scene, and both bound to a tiny island by a wintry sea—should maintain so profound a separateness. Phil doubted if the human race was as truly gregarious as it was reputed to be. He was a bit offended by her indifference, but he knew he would have been much more offended if she had been neighborly.

After dark he turned out his lamp and went to the window. A line of yellow light marked her window. The new moon was riding high and he could see that she had closed the heavy shutters of plank, only they did not close tightly down the center and the warm light shone through. What a friendly light the off lamp gave! Phil hunted round and found a piece of mosquito bar. He hung this in folds over his window. If he chose to look out in the morning he could see through the mosquito bar, but he could not be seen—not from the distance of the woodpile, at any rate. This strategic operation completed, Phil relighted his lamp and sat down with a copy of Marcus Aurelius. He had bought the book in Portland because he had always understood that Marcus Aurelius was of all writers the one who offered the truest solace to a proud heart.

He had not read far when he heard a commotion next door. The small, red-leather volume dropped on his knee while he listened. There was a loud scraping sound, intermittent; there was a bump; there was silence. Phil grinned. It was the sound of a bed being shoved across a floor and against the door. It seemed very funny indeed—until he remembered that he had felt like doing the same thing himself the first night he had slept on the island.

Phil awoke suddenly the next morning. The sun had not yet reached his window. He felt for his watch. It was 6 o'clock. He wondered what had awakened him. He heard a tremendous thud and then the cracking sound of wood split with a blow from an ax. He got up and surveyed the shack opposite from behind his mosquito bar.

The girl was splitting kindling. She hadn't handled an ax much. But she was learning. She was learning to strike with the falling speed that splits instead of the faster speed that cuts. Every third or fourth trial her blow split the piece neatly. Phil watched her until she paused and went into her house. When she was gone he observed for the first time that she had put up a curtain of mosquito bar at her window. Phil put on a bathing suit for his morning plunge from the rock.

As he was dressing he heard her door slam. She came running down the path in a bathing suit, toward the rock. Phil went to the other side of his house and looked out. He could see her poised on the rock—his rock. Didn't she know that that water was like ice? She would be lucky to get out alive unless he helped her. She dived almost instantly, came up, and swam back with a most workmanlike overhand. In another moment she had slipped down the path and into her house.

"What the devil?" Phil said aloud to himself. His surprise at her ability to dive into Maine water at that season and survive translated itself into surprise at her being there at all. She must have run away from home—or from the law. Hodge's island was a poor place to hide. You couldn't live there without attracting the attention of the entire population, and you couldn't get away except on the one boat, that stopped

Even as he watched she stretched her arms high above her head. Was it a gesture of despair or was she mocking him?

Tuesdays and Saturdays. Everybody on the island would have her description down to the last detail. What did she expect the natives to think of her? Of course they were natives of Maine, people with whom it was a point of pride to let everybody go his own way, no matter how queer it was. Hodge's island might talk, but Hodge's island would not act—not as long as you let its lobster pots alone.

Phil put on his hat. He wanted to be by himself. He had come to Hodge's island to be by himself. If this girl was bound to live next door to him, he could walk the beach and get away from her.

He had walked more than half way around the island when he saw her coming from the opposite direction. He would have turned and walked back the way he had come in order to avoid meeting her, if he had not been afraid she had already seen him. He debated, as they approached each other, whether to raise his hat when they passed. He decided there was no reason why he should acknowledge her presence unless she acknowledged his first—she was a woman. He had decided she wasn't going to see him at all, although they were compelled by the cliff on one side and the sea on the other to pass within a yard, when at the last moment she said, "Good-morning." She said it formally, almost perfunctorily, as she might have said on Fifth avenue, on meeting a speaking acquaintance. Phil said "Good-morning," as he raised his hat, in quite the same fashion. The episode struck him as absurd. Her being there at all was absurd. Phil spent Thursday morning in the house; he did not see the girl except when she took her morning plunge off the rock. He was startled at her doing it a second morning. He had supposed one experience of that water would be enough for any girl. It wasn't sensible of her. It was different with him. He was a man, and, besides, he had his reasons.

Toward noon he decided that it would be pleasant to concoct a bouillabaisse. He had never made a bouillabaisse, but he thought he could manage something like it from the materials Hank would have on hand.

"I see you got a neighbor, Mr. Anderton," Hanks said.

"Yes," Phil admitted. "She was down here a bit ago buying two clams and two small herring and a chicken lobster, and I don't know what all—said she was going to make a bouillabaisse, as near as I could get it. What, now, is a bouillabaisse?"

"What?" said Phil. "A bouillabaisse—I guess it's French."

"I never heard of it," said Phil. He reflected bitterly that he hadn't done anything since she came that she hadn't also done. Either she was imitating him out of malice, in which case she was crazy, or something was driving her to do precisely what he did.

He bought another mackerel. Inwardly he was resolved not to eat the same meals she ate even if he did take a plunge off the same rock, and even if she did burn his firewood, and even if she did walk on his beach.

The thing was beginning to get on his nerves. It was like an insane practical joke. Why should a girl like that come to Hodge's island at all? She wasn't poverty stricken—her clothes were evidence of that. She wasn't ill. She wasn't crazy in any specific way—except that coming to Hodge's island was evidence that she wasn't quite right in her mind.

That night, sitting in front of his fire, Phil got to thinking of Evelyn Williams, and his heart ached. When he could stand it no longer he put on a sweater and a coat and went out on the beach. The moon was almost full, a pale northern moon, high above the tumbling ocean. It was cold, almost freezing cold, and the breakers, coming in under the moon, crashing against the rock, had fearsome power. He sat down on a rock and put his arms around his knees for warmth, and watched the sea. It was almost as if he were alone in the midst of that tossing sea. He was alone in a wintry sea, without happiness or hope of happiness. In all the wide world there was no one to share his confidence, to sympathize with him, to understand his predicament.

It was too cold to sit long. He stood up and stretched his arms above his head to get the kink out of them. He saw something move on the dark rock above him. He stood very still, listening. The thing became a human figure, outlined against the moon. It was that girl. Even as he watched she stretched her arms high above her head. Was it a gesture of despair, or was she mocking him? He took a step toward her and she disappeared.

The next day—Friday—Phil stayed indoors. He tried to read, he tried to write a long letter resigning his job, he tried to make the shack as neat and shipshape as possible; but all these enterprises were interrupted by the irresistible impulse to study the shack opposite from behind the screen of mosquito bar. Toward night he saw her go to the well for a bucket of water and to the woodpile for fuel. He reflected that the boat would be in the next morning, and she would be leaving, and he would be free of her. But the reflection had a sting in it; what small chance there was of solving the mystery of her presence and her conduct would go with her.

Phil saw her leaving the shack the next morning at 8 o'clock—the boat was due at 9. He resolutely attacked the volume of Marcus Aurelius he had so far been unable to read. Every few minutes he went to his window to see if the boat was in. The impulse to take it was stronger than it had ever been. But he managed to stay indoors while it came through the narrow and disappeared round the head. He could not see Hanks' dock, but he knew exactly what was happening. He knew that a man in the bow was throwing a line ashore and that other men were lowering the big plank down which they would roll a few barrels of salt and gasoline and oil and groceries, and up which they would roll a few barrels of lobsters. The strange girl would climb aboard, and the man in the bow would cast off and the steamer would pass out through the narrow the way it had come.

Phil put on his hat and went out on the rock in front of the house. From the farthest point he could see the steamer; it was still lying at the dock. But even while he adjusted his eyes to the distance he saw it back out, turn slowly and head for the narrow. He was again marooned on Hodge's island.

Peeping Pansy Fairy Tales

BY MARIE, QUEEN OF ROUMANIA

PANSY FINDS HERSELF WITH A NEW PET.

BY degrees the sound of chewing became fainter, and the bears looked up in turns and began polishing their snouts with their paws.

Father Grizzlies was decidedly becoming sleepy. Pansy beckoned to her imp companion, who came and squatted down beside her, his round eyes bright and terribly on the lookout for mischief.

"Don't you think I had better be saying good-by soon?" she whispered. "I think they are getting sleepy."

"Well, I think you are right; they generally take a nap after their food."

"But I must say good-by to them," said Pansy, "and thank them for their hospitality."

"Yes, of course you must," assented the elf.

"Father Grizzlies," said Pansy, heading down toward her somnolent host, "I think I must be going; but before you fall off to sleep, let me say good-by and thank you; you have been very kind to me."

"Don't go away, little human girl," grunted the old fellow. "You're sweet and soft and fresh, and you smell good. You are an ornament to my house—I would like to adopt you."

"But I am not an orphan," protested Pansy.

"That does not matter; I'll adopt you all the same, and every day you'll scratch me behind my ears, and every day my excellent wife will cook you a better dish, so that you'll never have the courage to leave us."

"No, no, don't go," Father Grizzlies continued to protest, but his tongue was getting heavy.

Mother Grizzlies winked at her guest. "He'll be snoring soon," she said. "It's my best moment when they all sleep; then I go off into the forest and lay amongst the flowers and remember the days when I was young."

"Can I come into the forest with you and listen to some of your reminiscences, Mother Grizzlies?"

"Certainly, certainly, you little human creature."

"I'll come along, I'm not sleepy," squeaked Cussy; "I like the forest and I like Pansy."

"I'd much rather you'd stop at home, Cussy," said his mother. "You'll disturb our peace."

Cussy and the Fat Bear Sisters Seemed Rounder Than Ever After Their Meal.

"Tell me about when you were young," pleaded Pansy. "Where did you live?"

"In a cave in another forest," said Mother Grizzlies; "we were a family of six, and I was the second daughter."

"Were you happy?" asked Pansy.

"Oh, yes, but sometimes we were fierce, and we quarreled a good deal."

"Was your father as greedy as Father Grizzlies?"

"My father was killed by a hunter-man when I was quite small—and later, my mother left our cave, and we all wandered away and lived by ourselves in the forest."

"And where is your mother now?"

"Oh, I do not know! We wild beasts seldom stick together after a certain time. We really only care about our children when they are small and really need us. I am not sure that I would recognize my mother if I met her, nor even my first-born children; I don't know where they are."

"Oh!" and Pansy was aghast. "That is animal way," explained the bear. "When our children are a certain age they look after themselves; it's always like that."

"I don't think it's nice," said Pansy after a pause for thought. "Everything is not nice in animal ways," replied Mother Grizzlies, "nor in human ways, either, for the matter of that."

"Did Father Grizzlies find you in that other forest?"

"He was Young Grizzlies in those days," chuckled the old bear, "and extremely good-looking and a very fiery suitor."

"What in the world is that?" asked Pansy.

"The old bear laughed. 'It's a thing few young people can resist,' she explained."

"And then you went to live in another cave with him and forgot about your mamma?"

"I had already forgotten about her a long time before that."

Pansy was silent; she could not calmly accept such family habits, but she found no words in which to express her feelings, so after a pause she asked: "What is the happiest thing you remember?"

"The birth of my first little bear," said Mother Grizzlies without hesitation.

"Tender Foot?"

"No, not Tender Foot; I had several children before I had Tender Foot."

"Was it a sweet little baby?"

"It was the sweetest baby ever born!" and Pansy never thought of a bear visage would be able to express such tenderness. "It was all round, and black and soft, and we used to roll together amongst the flowers, and climb together to the top of the hill and look at the world from there; and when it was tired it would crawl up between my arms and sleep—yes, that was my greatest happiness."

"And where is it now?" asked Pansy.

"I do not know," answered the mother.

"You do not know, and you mean you do not care?"

"No, I do not care. When they are able to look after themselves they go away and we don't mind; that's animal way."

"But some of your family have remained with you," protested Pansy.

"Oh, that is because I am such a good cook," grinned Mother Grizzlies good-naturedly.

"Will Cussy also soon leave you?" asked Mother Grizzlies.

"Where are you going to next?"

"Wherever Pinky-Panky leads me to; either to old Stick-in-the-Mud or to King Silver Star."

"Oh! They are both of them great characters," exclaimed Mother Grizzlies.

"I wish you did not like him so much," grumbled Cussy.

"Because you ought to like me best," sulked Cussy.

"Oh, Cussy!" said Pansy in a reproving voice. "I really cannot like you best, although I've got very fond of you."

"Why can't you like me best?"

"Because, because," Pansy paused. "You're a dear, but you are only a ridiculous, jealous, baby cub, who has learned no manners and who does not understand anything about anything. Really, Cussy, I don't at all know what to say to you."

"That's because you don't love me but despise me, and think me an ugly little fool; but although I hate, I also love you and would like to go with you everywhere, everywhere, like Tim does. Why can't I become your puppy like Tim?"

"Oh, but you are not a dog!" protested Pansy.

"Does that matter? Can't a little girl also have a tame bear?"

"Oh! I suppose she could!" said Pansy, taken by surprise.

"Then I shall follow you everywhere," decided Cussy.

"All right then," sighed Pansy, but her voice did not sound at all convinced.

ENAMEL AND ECONOMY

IF last year's black straw hats are given a coat of black enamel, they will have the gloss that the present-day fashion demands. Old black ribbons may also be treated in the same way. One coat applied with a flat brush gives it the appearance of the shiny ribbons so much used. Two coats give a patent-leather effect.

The can of enamel should be put in a warm place two or three hours before using, but must be kept away from an open blaze. Black bone buttons may be given a satin finish in the same manner.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Jerry Muskrat Explains

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Little things that go unheeded.
Often are the things most needed.

—Peter Rabbit.

THE big things in life are important. Of course, everybody knows that. But queer as it may seem, the little things of life often are even more important, for without them the big things of life cannot be secured. The trouble is that folks are apt not to heed the little things. Just take the case of Old Man Coyote and Peter Rabbit.

Old Man Coyote was sure that he had Peter trapped in the home of Jerry Muskrat. He was sure that the only way Peter could get out was by the way he went in. So he hid near that hole to wait for Peter to come out and in his mind there wasn't a doubt that he would have that postponed Rabbit dinner.

He had overlooked a matter which, in itself, seemed a mere trifle and unimportant. He had failed to notice how very low the Laughing Brook was.

So far as that was concerned Peter Rabbit himself had been quite as heedless. But for Jerry Muskrat he would have been trapped just as Old Man Coyote had thought he was.

Jerry had led him down a long hall and out on the very edge of the Laughing Brook and then up along the edge of the Laughing Brook far enough away from where Old Man Coyote was hiding for them to feel quite safe. There they sat down to talk it over. Even then Peter didn't understand it.

"I'm ever and ever so thankful to you, Jerry," said he. "But for you I would still be a prisoner. I always supposed that the doorways to your home were under water and I wouldn't have thought of even trying to get out that way. When did you make those doorways just above the water?"

Jerry chuckled. "I didn't make them above water," said he. "I made them under water. But the Laughing Brook played a trick on me. Fortunately I have that house out in the Smiling Pool, so it didn't matter. I gave up using that house in the bank. But the trick the Laughing Brook played me was a good thing for you, Peter, a mighty good thing for you."

Peter wrinkled his brows and scratched a long ear with a long hindfoot. He was puzzled. "What was the trick the Laughing Brook played on you?" he asked finally.

Again Jerry Muskrat chuckled. "Look at it, Peter," said he. "Just look at it!"

Peter stared at the Laughing Brook. "Well," said he, a wee bit crossly, "I don't see anything queer about the Laughing Brook. There isn't as much water in it as there is sometimes. That's all the difference I see."

"And that has made all the difference in the world to you, Peter," retorted Jerry Muskrat. "You know what a long time it has been since we have had a good rain. The Laughing Brook has been growing smaller and smaller. I've watched it getting lower and lower between its banks. Yesterday it got so low that those doorways of mine, which had been under water, were no longer under water, so that any one looking for them could find them. That house of mine was no longer safe for me. But you never once thought of that. Neither did Old Man Coyote, which you ought to be thankful for. He knows that those doorways always have been under water, and he didn't stop to think that with the Laughing Brook as low as it now is they would be above water. So there he is back there watching for you and here you are safe and sound and free."

"I didn't know you were in my house. I went over there just to see that everything was all right. It is a lucky thing for you I did. My, but this is a joke on Old Man Coyote!"

"I wonder how long he will wait for you," Jerry began to chuckle again and Peter chuckled with him. It certainly was a joke, a great joke.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE REAL THING.

In Fiume the navy had to be called to suppress a riot started at a football game.

We fancy, when forth from the stand we debouch,
In a flight of resilient jumps,
And, plying our pop-bottles take out our grouch
On the egg of a bone-headed ump,
That we are a fierce and a terrible folk,
Whose vengeance is rough and emphatic,
But such a performance would be but a joke
On the shores of the blue Adriatic.

Why, down in Fiume when people suspect
That an ump isn't quite on the level,
The grand stand is burned and the clubhouse is wrecked
In a brutal and bloodthirsty revel,
The ump is dispatched, as a matter of course,
Without hesitation or pity,
Then, fired with fury and scorching remorse,
The fans make a hash of the city.

One phoney decision—and over the town
A mob of avengers run riot,
Machine guns are called and shoot half of 'em down,
But still there's a storm of unquiet,
And not till the navy is called to the scene
And the countryside's badly bombarded,
While the armies from neighboring states intervene,
Is the tumult so much as retarded.

Hereafter, whenever we raise a few lumps
 With cries of distaste or derision,
 On the ivory head of a recreant ump
 To show we don't like his decision.
 We don't need to feel we have done ourselves proud
 As militant, bitter dislikers—
 A typical East Adriatic crowd
 Can make us look very like pikers!

From the Doctor's Practice.

The faculty had been having an epidemic of colds and sore throats. Each received the physician's favorite prescriptions for powder and gargle. Finally the maid, a recent importation from Poland, fell ill. The lady doctor, Mrs. M. G. —, tried to give her the same powder and gargle, but she insisted on having the physician. And when the latter came, he prescribed as usual.

"Now, you see," said Mrs. G. —, "he's giving you exactly the same thing."

"I won't take dem," responded the maid. "Doctor, you are a sensible man. I ask you, is it right a single girl should take de same medicine as a married woman vid children?"

The everlasting gratitude of an entire world awaits the man who invents a method of keeping sheets tucked in at the foot of the bed.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Fitting

"Quite so. He would not allow the carpenter to build his Airedale's house out of anything but dogwood."
—Baltimore American.

Posterity's Hard Luck

Too bad posterity is not yet in a position to get a good laugh at some of the things our present politicians claim to be doing for it.—Kansas City Star.

SUGGESTIVE THERAPEUTICS.

"Sure! That's one of our regular stock pictures. When the crowd begins mumbling about its being hot in here, we jes' shoot this Arctic stuff for a few minutes."
